Santa Plans To Return

Santa had a nice, crisp sunny day for his first visit with children in Cameron Saturday and said he will be back this coming Saturday to hear from the ones he missed.

He will be in his sleigh on the courthouse lawn from 10 to 11 a.m., 1 to 3 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m. with a new supply of bubble gum, candy and balloons for his little friends.

Santa's helpers on hand Saturday weren't really little elves -- who are all busy in the North Pole workshop -- they were members of Boy Scout Troop 752.

If the weather is bad, he will be inside the courthouse in the first floor hall.

Norway Cites Alcoa Chief

John D. Harper, board chairman and chief executive officer of Aluminum Company of America, received one of Norway's highest honors -- The Knighthood of the Royal Norwegian Order of Saint Olav.

His Majesty King Olav V awarded the medal in recognition of Harper's "valuable services rendered to Norwegian industry."

Presentation of the medal, rarely given to a non-Norwegian, was by Major General Georg Bull, Chancellor of the Order.

Alcoa, in partnership with Alkem A/S, has a 50 percent interest in a primary aluminum smelter at Mosjoen, Norway, and in another nearing completion at Lista. It has had important Norwegian interests for many years.

With F.M.L.

A valedictory dinner was held in Austin Tuesday night for Senator Ralph Yarborough, only a day after President Nixon announced appointment of former Gov. John Connally the new secretary of treasury.

Senator-elect Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., of Houston succeeds in Yarborough's seat after the Texas senior senator lost to Bentsen in the Democratic primary who then defeated new UN Ambassador George Bush in the Senate race in November.

Texas political leadership has then taken a definite step to the center, but assumes international posture with Bush at the UN.

Yarborough probably authored more social legislation than any Southwestern senator except former President Lyndon Johnson, whose skills in the Senate both as Majority Leader and President pushed a remarkable measure of new education and social programs. President Johnson saw the Kennedy programs through after John Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas in 1963.

111-111-111

These events show the cycle of authority ever changing and ever including Texans, regardless of who is in the White House. Texas is now the fourth most populous state, a sign of even greater power for Texas in national and international affairs.

This chain of high-level influence which began with Colonel House, advisor to President Wilson, thus continues. It follows through the days of Senator Tom Connally, Congressman, the Speaker Sam Rayburn, Vice-President, earlier House Speaker John Nance Garner, of Uvalde, Senator John Tower, first Republican Senator from Texas since reconstruction, a power in the Nixon Administration and active in the Goldwater try for the presidency in the Johnson landslide of 1964.

John Connally, as destiny would have it, rode with John Kennedy that November day in 1963 when bullets struck both the President and the then Governor. Lucky to survive, Connally gained additional respect and international recognition which joins in his political acumen among men of affairs.

111-111-111

Perhaps Connally's appointment is a sign that the "country is leaderless", as Hubert Humphrey told a partisan Yarborough throng in Austin Tuesday night.

Perhaps President Nixon merely wants Connally's acumen for the 1972 campaign which requires a Texas GOP win to assume his re-election.

Whichever, and no one quite knows at this time, Texas continues to develop and even to return men of stature to Washington over a half century, crossing party lines at times to do it.

Oklahoma Driller To Try New Milbur Well

South Milam County's Milbur Field, now three years old, had a new wildcat scheduled last Friday as the usual year end drilling boom got under way in this area.

The new wildcat will be drilled by White Shield Oil and Gas Corporation of Tulsa, Oklahoma. It will be their No. 1 H. H. Coffield, located on acreage in the east side of Eliza Santa Survey.

Drill site will be about one-half mile from the Burleson County line.

The Coffield is permitted to 4,000 feet and has the Navarro as its target formation. Some production in the Milbur Field comes from the Navarro, but most of the wells produce from the Wilcox, which lies above the Navarro in that area.

White Shield entered the Milbur Field last spring, drilling its No. 1 P. H. Perry, located on a 250 acre lease, and shortly afterwards its second wildcat, the No. 1 W. P. Hogan, on nearby acreage.

Both wildcats were in the D. H. Vanveightan Survey.

Potential figures which White Shield filed in August on the No. 1 Perry showed it produced 49 barrels of 40 gravity oil per day from the Navarro on perforations at 3,449 - 80 feet on 20 - 64 inch choke under 100 pounds pressure on tubing after receiving frac treatment. White Shield's No. 1 Hogan also was reported to be a good producer.

The Corporation's new Coffield wildcat is located southwest of its Perry and Hogan wells and on the same trend in the field.

BLOODMOBILE NETS 132 UNITS

The Red Cross bloodmobile collected 132 units from local and area donors in Cameron Tuesday, nearly double the 71-unit quota.

At least 50 Texas Highway Department employees from the Bryan District, and a number from the local highway maintenance department swelled the total of prospective donors to 140.

Sister Aloysius, local blood program chairman, said these donors, and many others were offering replacements for two local men. She said one of the men had donated 12 pints over the years, and had received six recently.

"It does make a difference when you are giving for a specific person," Sister Aloysius said, "but our faithful donors and some new ones gave, just knowing it is needed."

BUSY AFTERNOON FOR RED CROSS bloodmobile workers as they greeted 140 prospective donors and collected 132 pints of blood here Tuesday. About 50 came from Bryan and surrounding areas to offer replacements for a local fellow employee. Extra cots were set up, but no one complained about the extra work, as Cameron's 71-pint quota was nearly doubled.

Viva!.....

Pants suits triumph in Cameron Schools.

Female teachers and students are "liberated" to this new option as long as they are pants suits, not jeans and T-shirts, according to School officials.

It is another alternative in the sophisticated dress of the male and female form in this country.

If pants suits seem "new", consider the colors, the variations, patterns and stripes that are typical of male dress these days. It may not be long before gray, blue and brown basic for men will be as old as the bright colors are new.

Never a dull moment these days, is there? One prediction, however. The he - she outfits shown in some high fashion magazines will never make it.

How do the French say it? "Viva la difference!"

Easy Answers Era Passing

A pattern of growth problems is emerging in the Central Texas area.

Schools, water systems, housing, resthomes, streets, tax base -- the numerous elements which supply basic needs of a changing scene are being tested.

Cameron Schools leadership is planning a study of future building needs as Rosebud-Lott approves plans for a new consolidated high school even as Caldwell turns down a $1.3 bond issue by a 3-1 margin.

Rockdale considers the possibility of a bond issue to deal with a city sewage plant limitation while Rosebud sees completion nearing of a large resthome and even while Cameron dedicates its second new hospital in less than 10 years.

Hearne opens a new firehouse as a public meeting is scheduled to discuss phone service in a small community in Milam County.

The public needs better facilities all around, many of which they have been viewing for years, but apparently now are beginning to act upon -- either to reject or approve -- as public boards and councils see needs catching up with older methods and public structures.

Public officials at regional, county, school and city level can appreciate that each unit's problem is not singular and in effect is part of the main problem or change. . . that yesterday's institutions simply do not meet today's challenges.

Overall response is positive as state and national leadership views more closely the role of non-metro areas like Central Texas where population is stabilizing, but is just as aware of modern services as metro cousins. But the job is a continuous one and is demanding a new view of the relationship between communities and counties and schools.

The old day of easy answers is passing.

Sec.Dies Orders Overhaul Of Elections, Registration

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN
Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., as Texas' chief election officer, has urged complete overhaul of the state's primary election machinery and voter registration system.

Dies told the House committee studying election reform that Texas faces a crisis in election operations and must, with counties, assume financing and conduct of primaries.

Election fees, although already too high, said Dies, no longer adequately finance elections.

Texas' chief election officer said he personally favors September and October primaries to concentrate the election period, ease the strain on candidates and increase waning voter interest.

Dies also strongly recommends the junking of annual voter registration and substituting the system of re-registration -- by voting used by most states.

Both early primaries (and January 31 voter registration cutoff) and annual registration are under court attack.

If Federal judges declare both unconstitutional, Dies told the committee, Texas will be unable to hold primaries or register voters until the Legislature orders changes.

LAND-BOND SALE

Veterans Land Program, in limbo for a year, got a new lease on life with the sale of $25 million worth of bonds at a weighted average interest rate of 4.06 per cent.

Low bid was submitted by Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York and Saloman Brothers. Others ranged from 4.09 to 4.14 per cent.

Veterans Land Board apparently made low bids possible by offering the sale to 18-year payoffs instead of the usual 25-year and longer - term bonds. Even though veterans have 40 years to pay off land purchases under the program, surpluses accumulated since 1949 make short-term bonds feasible, according to a land office spokesman.

Although the Board was authorized to sell some $140 million more, bonds could not be marketed earlier because they were subject to the constitutional interest rate limit of 4.5 per cent.

Latest bond offering, to the surprise of nearly everybody, brought five bids below the rate ceiling.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Board chairman, said guidelines for applications by veterans under the revived program for purchase of land on long - term, low - interest loans soon will be released.

Applications, according to Sadler, must be filed by the middle of January.

Last bonds were marketed two years ago before interest rates took off on a long, steep climb upward.

About $115 million in bonds authorized by voters still remain unsold. This new $25 million sale is expected to meet the demands for four years.

URBAN PANEL REPORTS

Texas Urban Development Commission has recommended creation of new state agencies and programs to help make cities more pleasant in which to live.

Committee's 50-page interim report to Gov. Preston Smith gave primary attention to transportation and housing problems and the need for cooperation among state and local governments.

Group recommended that an Interagency Transportation Council be created to provide adequate planning and assistance for comprehensive transportation systems.

Other agencies recommended for creation were: a Department of Community Affairs to aid local governments, administer planning and housing programs as well as to develop and administer economic opportunity programs; a Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations; a Human Resources Council; a Texas Housing Finance Corporation; and an Urban Assistance Board.

Additional recommendations covered fields of law enforcement, natural resource management (aid for wastewater plant construction), health standards, property tax administration balanced growth and strengthening local government.

DREDGERS ORDERED OUT

Parks and Wildlife Department ordered three shell dredge operations working offshore from the Aransas Wildlife Refuge to discontinue operations in north San Antonio Bay by January 1.

Area closed extends from McDowell Point on the west to about midway between Swan Point and Mosquito Point on the east.

PWD said dredges were disturbing the freshwater - salt water balance in part of a 16,000 - acre area. Survival of marine organisms below half an inch in length was threatened by salt water inflow resulting from the dredging, PWD spokesmen claimed.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Since I don't depend on the mail service as much as a lot of people, I can't tell any difference in a newspaper delivered by Uncle Sam and one delivered by a good strong north wind. I figure I can take a calmer view of the mail situation that always develops along about this time of the year, railroad strike or no railroad strike.

Actually of course a railroad strike isn't all bad for the Post Office Department, especially in big cities. It gives it an excuse for getting bogged down in mail it was going to get bogged down in anyway.

But everybody recognizes mail service isn't what it used to be and something ought to be done about it.

One solution the Post Office Department is looking into is a machine that reads handwriting. It wants a machine that can look at the address on a letter, decipher it, and ship it on its way, untouched by human hand.

If they can get a machine smart enough to read some people's handwriting, for example mine and some others I know, we wouldn't need to write letters at all. Just let the machines write each other. One objection to this though would be the amount of unemployment it'd create among postmasters.

Another method to avoid the Christmas log-jam of mail of course would be to hold Christmas just every tenth year, but I doubt if it'd catch on.

Or, since I don't have any trouble at all getting a letter from this Johnson grass farm to your office in Cameron, maybe Congress should prohibit a man's writing a letter that goes any further than his mail carrier can carry it.

Actually there's nothing wrong with the mail system, it's just sort of like the highway system too many people try to use it at the same time.

If everybody followed Mark Twain's system we wouldn't have any mail problems at all. He said if you'd wait six months before answering your letters you'd be surprised how few needed answering.

If you think this is a good idea, let me know along about next June.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Compensation For Fright?

Truck driver Fred, on a downhill slope, suddenly discovered that his brakes had failed. To his consternation, the truck began to pick up speed. Finally Fred managed to bring it to a halt against a hillside.

A short time later, however, he suffered a stroke. Could he collect workmen's compensation for his disability?

In a court test, the company argued that he could not.

"There was no physical injury at the time of the accident," said the company. "He just got very frightened. Workmen's compensation was never intended to protect a workman against mere fright."

In most cases, compensation is indeed payable for fright that is followed by clear physical consequences. This is true even if the consequences are not as immediate as in Fred's case. Take this situation:

Rumors of possible rioting began to swirl around an American agency in a foreign capital. The rioting never did break out, but several days of nervous tension finally brought one government employee down with a heart attack.

He too claimed workmen's compensation. And a court ruled that he was entitled to it. The court attached no great importance to the fact that his heart attack followed a prolonged period of "nerves" rather than a single scare.

Still, there at least must be a causal connection between the job and the disability. In another case, a workman with heart trouble suffered an attack after a mild disagreement with his foreman. Under these circumstances, a court decided that the man was not entitled to workmen's compensation.

The court said he had not been subjected to anything worse than "the countless irritations to which all workers are occasionally subjected without untoward results."

Therefore, said the court, his heart attack could not fairly be considered a product of his work.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

EX-PRES. TRUMAN NOT IN NEED AS RUMORED

SENATOR STEPHEN M. YOUNG (Ohio) "... President Nixon and the White House staffers are engaging in a large-scale lobbying effort to boost the annual pension for ex-Presidents from $25,000 to $60,000 and to increase the pensions of the widows of former Presidents, all of whom are in affluent circumstances. This is an intensive, but hush-hush, lobbying action.

"I intend to be extremely watchful on this subject, but it is physically impossible for me to be on the floor of the Senate at all times, and I am calling attention to that pending bill, hoping that if it should pass the other body, it will be stopped here. . .

"Eight percent of the salary of every Member of Congress--Senator and Representative--is deducted for retirement. No deductions have ever been made from the presidential salary, now $200,000 per annum. "Incidentally, that salary was increased 100 per cent by this Congress, and I am glad to say that I voted for the amendment which would have increased President Nixon's salary from $100,000 to $150,000. That was defeated.

"No Ohio constituent has ever written me objecting to that 100 percent increase for President Nixon's salary, but constituents have written finding fault with the fact that Senator's and Representatives received an increase in their salaries at a time of ever-expanding and seemingly uncontrollable inflation. . .

"No deductions have ever been made from President Nixon's salary. Therefore, there is no question that this is an out-an-out $60,000 yearly pension that is sought. "White House lobbyists claim that both President Nixon and former President Johnson really do not need this additional money. They say they urge this because they are so sorry that former President Harry Truman really needs it.

"President Truman is in modest financial circumstances, but he says that he and Mrs. Truman are happy and enjoying life. He says they are getting along just fine. He could care less about this White House proposal. Someone seems greedy for more money every year as a pension; and it is not Harry S. Truman."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

If ex-President Harry S. Truman is happy and enjoying life, and doesn't need the money; why the suggested increase? The promised debate should let in a little light on the subject.--J.C.

Sharp, Tracy, Friendship

By Mrs. Leroy Guillote

Christmas is almost here, and I had told myself for months, that Christmas would be so wonderful for us this year, that even with my children so far from home, this is the first Christmas we don't have a son in the war area.

Somehow, it didn't seem to make any difference, the whole world is in such a turmoil, and seeing Xmas trees put out in September, made Christmas seem as artificial as the trees were. Between hearing buy this, buy early, Meli, killed, buy, war,

I am sure I am not alone in my feelings, and search for understanding.

Last week, I learned. While in town, around so many people, there seemed to be no strangers, such a wonderful feeling of Good Will Towards All Men. If that feeling could exist, there could be Peace On Earth.

However, even if we can only have this wonderful feeling for such a short while, it lets us all as one know that Christmas is the birth of our Savior, Christ. The gifts to the baby were gifts of love, and so Christmas isn't really just a commercial holiday as so many tell us now days. Christ was born, lived, and died, to show us, and comfort us, who have lost their loved ones, that they are now with God for All Eternity. I give thanks for this, and hope it will help so many who have faced sorrow this year. Last week, I wrote Mrs. Jerry Harbuz's mother had passed away. It was her father. Her neighbor, Mr. George Triggs lost his brother, and services were held in Cameron, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Benny Reynolds of Houston had just returned home after spending the Thanksgiving holidays in Cameron and Tracy, only to be called back due to the death of Mr. Reynold's mother, Mrs. Reynolds Newman of Cameron. They spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Roseler before returning to Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cryer of Baytown have been visiting Mrs. Jim Cryer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thiele of Taylor were Sunday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coffman.

Mrs. E. J. Rinn, Elmer and Norma attended the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Will Gilbert in Buckholts Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Garlon Lawrence, Jr. is home after spending a month in Seton Hospital in Austin.

Home Demonstration Clubs had their annual Christmas party in Tracy with the Tracy-Duncan Club as hostesses. About 35 members were present, and the party was held in the Tracy Methodist Church fellowship club.

J. D. Pope is recovering from eye surgery at home after spending several days at Scott and White Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Englishbee have a new baby girl, born in Temple at Scott and White.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hanke spent Saturday in Bryan with the Tim Hanke's. Sunday, they were in Cooperas Cove, helping their niece, Susan, celebrate her 13th birthday. Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hanke.

Mr. Ed Echols left for a deer hunting trip to south Texas Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Echols also visited her sister and parents in Seguin.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Schwartz won an electric roaster and toaster in a drawing in Bartlett. They are almost finished remodeling their home and will move in soon.

Mrs. Howard Smith and Maude Fowler visited with their sister, Mrs. Clifford Walker, and Mrs. Fowler also attended services at the Methodist Friendship Church.

Mrs. Alice Rhodes has recently returned from a nice long vacation with her daughter, Wanda, in California. Guests of Mrs. Rhodes were Lucille Cryer, Mrs. Walter Cryer, Alvin Walker and Mrs. James McConnell and children.

Mrs. Minnie Lee Collier and Mrs. W. H. Walker attended a Tea for bride-elect Miss Myrlann Moore, in Davilla with Mrs. Rawleigh Guiland as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Doskocil and children visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Shelton. Edward Doggett of Houston visited here over the weekend.

Duke Gilleland of Temple spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gilleland.

The Junior Caffey family of Fort Worth spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Ruth Caffey. Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Caffey and children, Hunter Duncan and the Jr. Caffey family. Mrs. Ruth Caffey spent Tuesday night in Belton with her daughter's family, the Fred Greens.

Mrs. Dan Drummonds accompanied several other teachers to Huntsville Monday where they attended a lecture on drugs.

Mrs. Mabel Charles spent Friday night and Saturday in Temple with her daughter and family, the John Culps.

Farmer Has No Monoply On Subsidies, Study Says

WASHINGTON
The House Committee on Agriculture announced today the publication of a study on the history and development of subsidies in America.

Issued as a Committee Print entitled "Government Subsidy - Historical Review," it seeks to correct a popular notion that agriculture has a monopoly on SUCH Federal largesse when in fact virtually all segments of the American economy share either directly or indirectly in tax-funded subsidies.

Committee Chairman W. R. Poage (D-Tex.), in a foreword in the publication, notes that payments labeled a subsidy by one man may be considered properly due compensation by another. Declaring that the $3.5 billion paid out annually on crop price support programs benefits consumers as well as producers, Poage in the foreword said:

"So long as the farmer must buy his equipment and supplies in a Government-protected market, and hire labor at pay scales enforced with Government laws and regulations, it would seem necessary that he, too, receive a degree of Government financial backing in his efforts to meet the Nation's nutritional needs."

"Moreover, it should be kept in mind that many nations of the world subsidize agricultural operations, even though their crops are produced with low standard of living labor, and that the American farmer successfully meets such competition only because of his advanced technology and use of costly fertilizers and other chemicals which have resulted in high yields per acre."

Chairman Poage in a statement accompanying announcement of the study's publication, observed that it is being released shortly after the new 3-year farm bill has become law.

"During debate on the farm bill," he said, "it was again apparent that there is widespread misunderstanding about crop price supports and little acknowledgment that they have their equivalent elsewhere in our economy."

"It is hoped that the figures and facts set forth in this publication will be accepted as free of bias, or propaganda motives, which might have been charged if we had released the publication while the farm bill was still under consideration."

The document notes that the First Congress enacted legislation in 1789 specifying that goods imported into the United States on American vessels should have a 10 percent reduction in customs duties, and over the intervening years there have been vast amounts taken out of the U.S. Treasury to pay part of the cost of building and operating U.S. Flag Vessels.

Railroads originally were subsidized with large grants of the public domain, a high point being reached between 1862-1866 when over 100 million acres were granted. Additionally hundreds of millions of dollars in grants and loans have helped them during the past century.

Water carriers and airlines also have come in for hundreds of millions of dollars in Federal aid.

The cost of operating the postal system has long been paid in part with tax money, the committee study asserts and says Post Office Department estimates outlining indirect postal subsidies to big circulation national magazines, including as much as $15.6 million to Life and $9.4 million to Readers Digest.

Turning to the manufacturing and industrial segment of the economy, the study points to the advantages embodied in accelerated amortization of defense facilities for tax purposes.

Tariffs, the study declares, are like a subsidy in that they shield American producers of certain items from foreign competition with the result that the American consumer of this particular commodity pays a higher price for it than would otherwise be the case.

In its conclusion, the committee study after reiterating that few if any areas of the economy are untouched by subsidy or subsidy-like programs, supported farm crop price programs.

These programs promote and assure adequate supplies of food and fiber at reasonable prices for all Americans, the study states.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

The new farm programs recently passed by legislation include cropland set-aside programs for cotton, wheat, and feed grain which offer a great deal of flexibility in the selection of crop acreages.

Under the new cotton program, in order for a producer to earn cotton price support payments and become eligible for a CCC Loan on the entire cotton production under the 1971 program, a producer must sign up and set aside an acreage of cropland from crop production equal to a specified percentage of the base acreage allotment.

(The exact percent will be announced at a later date but it will not be more than 20 percent).

In addition, you must maintain the conserving base established for the farm. The balance of the cropland acreage can be devoted to upland cotton, wheat, corn, or any other crop you desire (except acreage of tobacco, rice, peanuts, extra long staple cotton, and sugar crops are limited under those respective programs).

The land set aside must be cropland meeting requirements that are acceptable to the county committee and no crop can be harvested from such acreage. The set-aside acreage must be put into conserving use.

Producers are required to plant cotton in order to earn a price support payment. Also, if less than 90 percent of the base acreage allotment is planted, the base acreage allotment for 1971 and subsequent years will be reduced except if the underplanting is due to drought, flood, or other natural disaster.

Wheat and feed grains planted on cotton allotment will be counted as cotton for allotment retention purposes.

The Agricultural Act of 1970 limits cotton payment to any person to $55,000. This limitation does not apply to loans.

Special provision for small farms also is provided. The payment rate will be increased by 30 percent to any producer who: 1. is on a farm on which the base acreage allotment is 10 acres or less or with payment production from the farm base allotment of 5,000 pounds or less; 2. resides on such farm; and 3. derives his principal income from cotton produced on such farm.

This additional payment will be made on the basis of the producer's share of cotton actually harvested within the allotment on the farm in 1971.

Release and reapportionment and sale and lease of allotment are also continued under the new program. The December 31 deadline for filing applications for sale and lease of allotments is eliminated so producers will have ample time to complete these transactions.

We will be giving some of the details for the 1971 feed grain program in the next ASCS news article. For more details concerning the 1971 cotton program, contact the Milam County ASCS Office.

Swine Producers Hear Anti-Pollution Regulations

County swine producers heard a representative from the Texas Water Quality Board outline regulations aimed at preventing pollution of Milam's creeks and streams at a meeting here Friday.

Sponsored by the county Rural Development Committee, the meeting also featured slides showing how agriculture can cause pollution by soil erosion, use of fertilizer and pesticides, and from animal wastes.

Joe Morgan, Water Quality Board district supervisor, explained that swine production is considered an industry, and said, "We don't want waste water from any industry going into our streams."

He urged swine producers to get in touch with the Austin office for a field representative to visit the producer's operation and help complete the necessary registration form. Producers can write: Texas Water Quality Board, 1108 Lavaca St., Austin, Tex. 78701.

Morgan said many producers are already in compliance with regulations and don't realize it, therefore a field representative's visit would assure them.

"Basically we require a catch basin or holding pond to catch runoff from feed lots or feeding areas," he said, "and this waste water can be pumped back on fields, if desired. Diversion terraces or pastures between swine feeding areas and creeks will also serve to keep wastes from reaching waterways."

Registration is required for producers with 50 or more animal units, confined in an area of 2,000 square feet or less.

An animal unit was defined as a swine weighing 50 pounds or more, or 10 piglets (animals weighing less than 50 pounds). However, Morgan said regulations apply to swine operations, regardless of the number of animals, if they are creating a pollution problem.

He also explained that dairy and poultry producers must get "no discharge permits" from the Board, whereas swine producers are only required to register.

About 20 people attended the meeting, including Jack Jones, Rural Development specialist from A&M University, who also spoke on pollution problems.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Countywide 4-H Club held its annual Christmas party Monday night, December 7 at Simon George Hall.

The members were led in various games by Sandra Cobb, Paula Fleming and Gery Hollas.

Afterwards they exchanged gifts and had refreshments furnished by the club's adult leaders. A fun time was had by everyone.

POULTRY TEAM PRACTICE

A new poultry team has been formed for the 1971 season. The team members include: David Ehler, Jerry Mueck, Ricky Richter and Robert Riola.

The boys have been practicing at least once a week now and are preparing for their first contest to be held in Ft. Worth at the Fat Stock Show on February 6, 1971. These young men are doing a good job and are showing a lot of interest.

NEW IDEAS NEEDED

In order for this weekly column to be a success new ideas must be injected at various times. If any readers have any suggestions on ways to better this column, please let me know.

Poage, Ellender Cited By Farm Magazine

Two of agriculture's long-time spokesmen in Washington, Cong. W. R. Poage, of Texas, and Sen. Allen J. Ellender, of Louisiana, have been named Men of the Year in Service to Southern Agriculture by The Progressive Farmer magazine.

They join a long list of farmers and farm leaders who have been awarded this honor since Dr. Charles Herty, the man who developed methods for converting pine trees into paper, was named in 1937.

Poage was elected to the U.S. Congress in 1936 and has served the 11th District of Texas continuously since that time. He has been chairman of the House Agriculture Committee since 1966 and a member of the com-

His leadership in the House helped bring about legislation on small watersheds, the PL 480 program through which underprivileged nations around the world shared in America's abundance of food, soil conservation programs, and numerous others. Poage helped develop the recently passed farm program under which the nation's agricultural system will operate during the next three years.

RANGE FIRES

Frost, freezes plus dry and windy weather have materially increased fire hazards throughout the state. Pasture and range fires can swiftly and completely wipe out winter feed reserves, destroy wildlife and its habitat and leave the soil bare and unprotected from water and wind erosion. Keep fire plans active until the soil moisture situation improves, advise Extension range specialists.

BRUSH CONTROL

Basal treatment of individual trees is best done when soil is dry and cracked away from the trunk at the surface. Conversely, mechanical methods like chaining are most successful when soil moisture is adequate to permit uprooting.

HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS

Deaths from accidents in the U.S. last December totaled 10,100. Down slightly from the year before but 700 more than the monthly average. Top killers were motor vehicle accidents, followed by fire and falls.

County Agent's Notes

New Farm Tax Guide Available

By J. D. Moore

The Internal Revenue Service has prepared the 1971 Farmer's Tax Guide to help file your 1970 Federal income tax return.

Rules of importance to farmers are explained in everyday language. Examples throughout the booklet show how these rules apply to actual farming situation. This edition reflects many of the latest changes in the Federal tax laws, of significance to farmers, resulting from the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

The tax rights and obligations of farmers are explained in detail, including the new rules for recapturing, as ordinary income, gain on the sale or other disposition of livestock to the extent attributable to depreciation after 1969, lengthening the holding period for livestock, recapturing soil and water conservation expenditures as ordinary income upon sale or other disposition of land.

The repeal of the investment credit also is discussed. The new tax guides may be picked up at the county agent's office or mailed to those who request them.

Fertilize small grains with nitrogen now advises Dr. John Chapin, area agronomist. Most all of the nitrogen put down at planting time has been utilized by small grain growth says Dr. Chapin.

50 or 60 pounds of nitrogen as a top dressing would be sufficient to stimulate regrowth following the current grassing off period. Due to the expected cold weather, no additional nitrogen will be recommended until about March 1, 1971.

Dr. Chapin attended the small grain and grass tour conducted for Milam stockmen on December 8, and discussed fertilizing small grains and pasture grasses.

Aliens In US Must Report Addresses

District Director John W. Holland of the Immigration and Naturalization Service stated that aliens in the United States will be required to report their addresses to the Attorney General within the near future.

All aliens, with few exceptions, who are in the United States on January 1 each year must report their addresses by the end of that month.

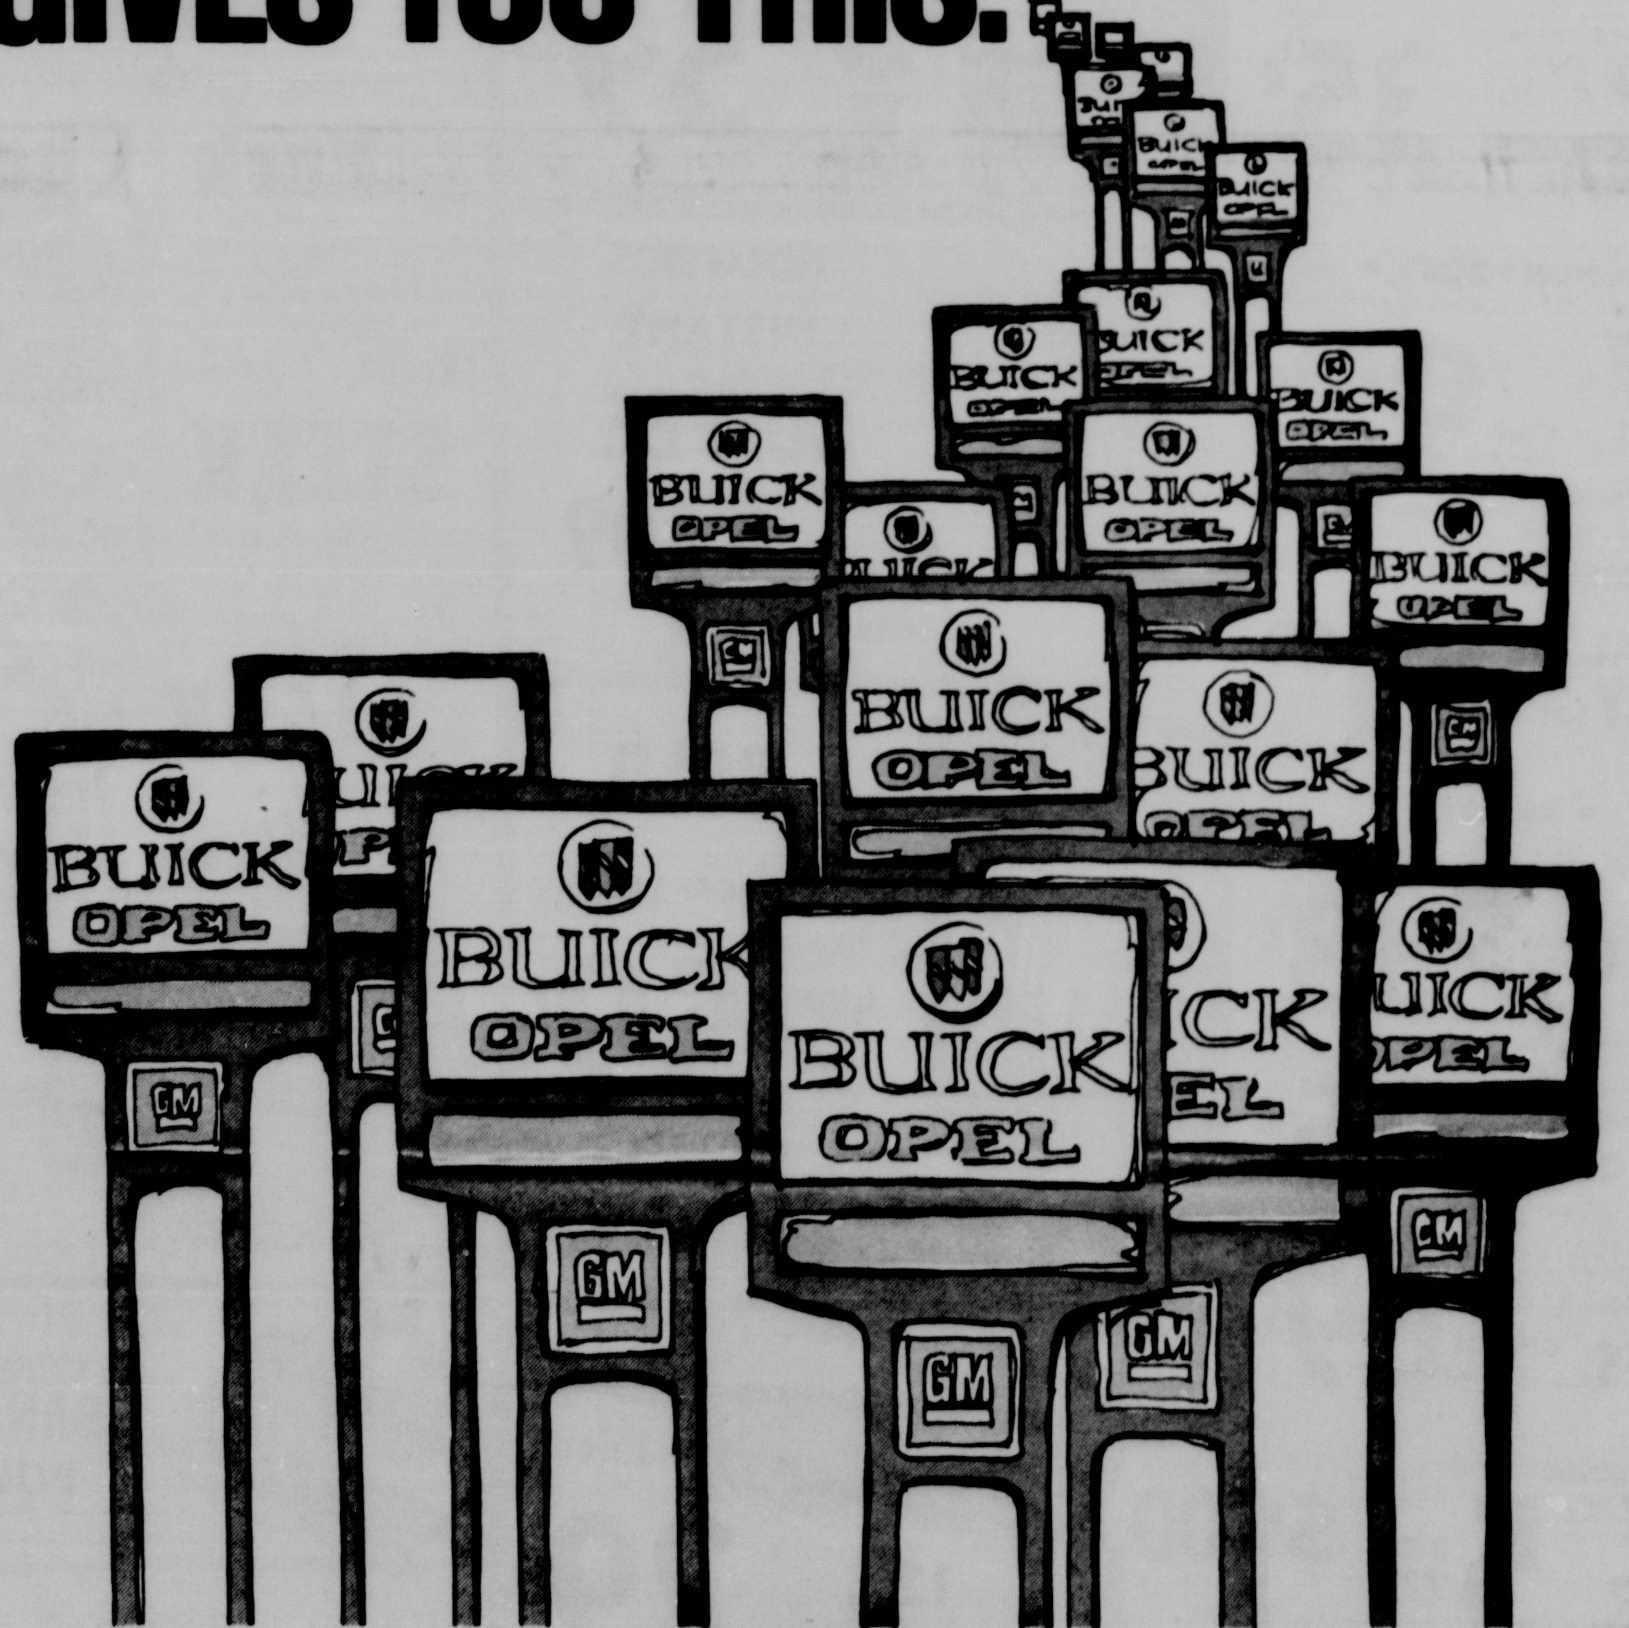

Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: 1. accredited Diplomats; and 2. Persons accredited to certain international organizations.

Forms with which to make the report can be obtained from any Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Service Office during the month of January.

Also, this year the reporting requirement has been broadened to additionally provide for the mailing of completed address reports directly to the nearest office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The cards will still be received at all post offices and Immigration and Naturalization Service offices as in the past. Holland said that the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirement.

THE YEARS OF MACARTHUR (Volume 1 - 1880 - 1941) by D. Clayton James: In this century of terrible wars and great military leaders, no American commander has proved more controversial than General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. Alternately revered and vilified, MacArthur has seldom, if ever, been understood dispassionately, though more than twenty books have been written about him.

This book, the first in a two-volume biography, is a portrait in depth of this military genius from his early days down to Pearl Harbor. It is at once a chronicle of a full life and a history of the modern American army. The author is a former pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Cameron, and presently is Associate Professor of History at Mississippi State University.

FIRST ON THE MOON, a voyage with Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins, Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr., epilogue by Arthur C. Clarke: The exclusive story of Apollo 11 and the always thrilling and historic personal experiences of the three astronauts who put man on the moon. It is a voyage in every sense of the word - through time, from President Kennedy's fateful pronouncement on May 25, 1961, that the United States would put man on the moon before the decade was out, and through space, with Mercury, Gemini, and Apollo.

DIBS IN SEARCH OF SELF, by Virginia M. Axline: The story of an emotionally disturbed child in search of sanity and of himself. It is based on the actual recordings of weekly sessions between the child, Dibs, and his therapist, Virginia Axline, who guided his search with a special technique of psychotherapy.

IN VOLUNTARY JOURNEY TO SIBERIA by Andrei Amalrik: The author of the astonishingly bold document "Will the Soviet Union Survive Until 1984?" here gives a vigorously exact, dispassionate account of his vicissitudes as a nonconformist intellectual in Soviet Russia. Amalrik describes the events leading up to his imprisonment and trial, and his subsequent exile to a collective farm in Siberia.

OPERATION OVERFLIGHT by Francis Gary Powers and Curt Gentry: Pilot Francis Gary Powers reveals the full story of what actually happened behind the scenes in the most sensational espionage case in Cold War history: the U-2 incident, which wrecked a Summit Conference, gave birth to the credibility gap, and inaugurated a new era in the ancient art of spying.

TALES FROM THE DERRICK FLOOR, by Mody C. Boatright and William A. Owens: A people's History of the Oil Industry. Vivid eye-witness accounts of the dangers and tragedies of the primitive oil fields and of the boisterous and lusty life of the wide-open boom towns.

THE BATTLE OF THE VILLA FIORITA, by Rumer Godden: In her most skillful and moving novel to date, Rumer Godden deals with a universal issue - has a woman the right to pursue her own fulfillment in love, or must she sacrifice it to her children?

AMERICA'S VANISHING FOLKWAYS, by Everett B. Wilson: This book describes and pictures a wide range of the customs and manners of our forebears which are now forgotten or obscured by time. Mr. Wilson takes a fresh look at these vanishing folkways, touching upon such diversified topics as our ancestors' dress, homes, religion, foods, laws, and forms of punishment.

THE HOUSE ON BITTERNESS STREET, by Elizabeth Borton De Trevino: Against the turbulent background of the Mexican Revolution, the author tells the story of one woman embarked on a search for her faith. It is a story of tragedy and trial, of errors and failures, of endurance, courage and hope, which comes to a triumphant conclusion.

MARK TWAIN - AN AMERICAN PROPHET, by Maxwell Geismar: In this striking and comprehensive volume Maxwell Geismar offers a rich and affirmative study of Samuel Clemens. He stresses Clemens' role as social prophet and documents it with particular relevance for our time. He challenges the assumptions of some previous scholars who have viewed Clemens from a

Holiday Tips For Food Shoppers

Busy holiday shoppers can save time and money in the food store with these tips from Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

At retail meat counters, best beef values include chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks and roasts, and beef and calf liver. Pork values include picnics, hams, end-cut loin roasts and chops, shoulder roasts and steaks.

Plenty of frozen turkeys are still available at about the same prices as those during Thanksgiving. Fryers remain a bargain in most meat departments, and grade A large size eggs continue to offer the best combination of quality and economy.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices include apples, bananas, cranberries, pears, potatoes, corn, celery, cabbage, carrots, sweet potatoes, collards, mustard greens, turnips, yellow onions, radishes and green onions.

Fruits that are especially popular for the holiday season are oranges, tangerines, tangelos and grapefruit. Citrus supply and availability usually reach a peak during the holidays.

narrower or purely Freudian point of view; and he presents so large and fresh a selection of Clemens' writings that the book can also serve as a Mark Twain reader.

Badgerettes Win Third In Thrall Cage Tourney

Last weekend, the Buckholts Badgerettes took part in the Thrall Tournament along with six other schools.

They were Milano, Bartlett, Granger, Thorndale, Dime Box, and the A and B teams from Thrall.

The Badgerettes played the Bartlett Lassies Thursday night and defeated them by a score of 31-21. Becky Beckhusen led the scoring for the Badgerettes by dumping in 17 points. Sara Ware led the Lassies with 12 points.

The boys lost to the Bartlett Bulldogs 61-36. Gordon Halsler led the Badgers with 13 points. W. Powell led Bartlett with 40 points.

The boys then played Friday afternoon and lost again to the Granger Lions. Larry Orsag topped the Badger scoring by totaling 17 points. High scorer for Granger was R. Caldwell with 22.

Friday night, the Badgerettes lost a disappointing, but hard fought battle to the Thrall girls 48-46. Becky Beckhusen threw in 29 points to pace the Badgerettes.

Linda Dvorak scored 28 points, to pace the Thrall Tigers. This placed the Badgerettes into the third place finals.

In the finals, the Badgerettes played against Thorndale and defeated them for third place honors 44-32. Martha Vaculin topped the scoring for the Badgerettes by throwing in 21 points. Renee Jackson led the Thorndale team with 24 points.

Consolation awards went to the Bartlett girls and the Granger boys.

Third place awards went to the Buckholts girls and the Thorndale boys.

Second place awards went to the Thrall girls and the Thrall boys.

First place awards went to the Dime Box girls and boys.

Becky Beckhusen was placed on the All-Tournament team as forward.

Nut Shells 'Tattle' On What's Inside

The outer shells of nuts may give hints on the quality inside. Pick clean, bright shells; they are most likely to contain good kernels.

Shells that are dirty, dull, indicative of defective kernels. The heavier the nuts, the meatier the kernel.

Unshelled nuts, often marked with lower prices, require about two pounds to yield one pound of nutmeats. Shelled nuts, however, save time, labor and storage space.

Shelled nuts keep best in airtight containers in the refrigerator, or even up to a year in the freezer.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yolles, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Nobel Prize

Sitting in a dentist's chair, Dr. Julius Axelrod first learned that he had been awarded the Nobel Prize for Medicine.

This happened not long ago and is particularly significant at this time for two reasons.

One is that the prize, for brain function research which has found practical application in the development and use of drugs for mental illness, represents a recognition that mental health can be advanced and mental illness attacked successfully by research.

The second reason for the award's significance is that it demonstrates positively that basic research pays off. The winning of the 1970 Nobel Prize for Medicine, shared by Dr. Axelrod with Professor Ulf von Euler of Sweden and Sir Bernard Katz of England, is also an important recognition of U.S. Government medical research.

Dr. Axelrod has been a researcher with the National Institute of Mental Health for many years and has helped advance the understanding of the brain's chemistry and the way it works in a number of ways.

When his dentist told him he had heard the news on the radio, Dr. Axelrod at first had difficulty believing it. Later, explaining his work, he said that it helped "to develop an understanding of the sympathetic nervous system which would allow development of more effective and safer drugs for mental illness."

The development of antidepressant drugs is an example. Another is the development of a drug called L-dopa for the treatment of Parkinson's disease.

The work may also lead to new or better drugs for abnormal blood pressure, heart disease, lung and respiratory diseases, and digestive illnesses.

The telegram that Dr. Axelrod received telling him of the award read simply:

"Karolinska Institute has decided to award the Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine for 1970 jointly to yourself, to Ulf von Euler, and to Bernard Katz for your discoveries concerning the humoral transmitters in the nerve terminals and the mechanisms for their storage, release, and inactivation."

The telegram meant a lot to Dr. Axelrod. But the work that lies behind it will mean a great deal more to literally millions of people around the world in terms of the relief of pain and suffering and disease that its eventual results bring.

KEEP in TOUCH

Isolation is a bad word. It means to separate as one would take rotten apples from good ones, or remove an infected person from noninfected ones. We also might isolate ourselves from others just by removing the mail box from the corner. But to do without the mail box would be unthinkable. Intercity, intercommunity, interstate and inter-country communication would suffer.

Our mail boxes help us to keep in touch with each other. But the mail box does not answer all our communication needs. Our spiritual requirements must be supplied. We must have a faith to live by and hope to give us a sense of security. They come through prayer. The mail box may help us keep in contact with each other, but prayer and then more prayer will keep us in touch with God. If you think your mail box is indispensable, then what do you think about your church? One church means more to your community than all its postal facilities. The United States mail box is a wonderful thing, but keeping in touch with your God is much more wonderful. Keep in touch with God.

AUSTIN
If one takes a cold and clinical look at mistletoe, he sees a rather lackluster parasite with tiny flowers, sticky berries and a reputation for hanging around where the action is during the holiday season.

But hardly any society which ever functioned beneath trees infested with mistletoe has taken the stuff in such a light vein.

Flower power wilts when placed beside the magical qualities attributed through the ages to mistletoe.

A botanist could drone endlessly about how mistletoe is a parasite which gathers some food through its aerial green leaves but derives most of its nourishment through its root system under the bark of the host tree and whose small flowers attract insects which carry pollen from other mistletoe sprigs.

But a student of history or mythology sees mistletoe in quite a different light. Here is a plant which caused the fall of kingdoms and received the attentions of the gods.

Mistletoe is thought to be the "Golden Bough" of the sacred oak in Italy long ago. A pretender to the title of King of the Wood whose duty was to defend the Golden Bough in this early society could become king only by killing the wearer of the crown. A runaway slave, if he were able to break off one of the magic branches, could challenge the king to combat. If he killed the king, he then became King of the Wood with a term of office about as long as the next quick knife thrust.

Mistletoe's present day alliance with the common cold

toe, and understandable enough oversight. The evil god Loke arranged for Balder to be killed by a dart made of mistletoe, but Hela, the goddess who took care of the dead, returned him to life, saying that mistletoe would never harm him if it were kept from touching the ground. Freya was given custody of mistletoe, and since she was the goddess of love, mistletoe is associated with kissing.

Christian mythology has it that mistletoe was once a normal forest tree whose wood was used to make Christ's cross. A guilt complex supposedly resulted, causing mistletoe to become sort of a botanical dropout which withdrew to the treetops to become a parasite.

In parts of Europe mistletoe is referred to as "Holy Cross Wood," and being holy, of course, it repels witches. This, mistletoe and figurines made of mistletoe can still be found hanging over doors to counteract the powers of conjurers. It was hung in European barns to make cattle fertile and to keep trolls and witches from souring the milk.

That fun bunch, the Druids, liked to swing with mistletoe moonshine. They used a golden sickle for cutting the plant, caught it in a white cloth and, presumably for good luck, sacrificed two white bulls -- good luck maybe for a strong brew, but very bad luck for white bulls.

A proprietor of a traveling medicine show must have tabulated the list of ailments which mistletoe is supposed to cure. Infertility, epilepsy, palsy and ulcers are just a few of the maladies which allegedly can be treated with mistletoe. But a word of caution is due here for folk-cure buffs. At least one of the 10 species of mistletoe in the U.S. is toxic to man.

These days the most common use of mistletoe is inducing persons who wouldn't ordinarily touch you with a ten-foot pole to kiss you. If this isn't appealing, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reports a second use -- as deer feed. Deer reportedly become somewhat less cautious in the presence of mistletoe. Unless they somehow learn to climb trees, deer miss out on this rare treat.

One biologist for the Department reports deer on one brush clearing project were sometimes in danger of being run over by the bulldozers because they pounced on the mistletoe as soon as the trees fell.

So whatever your preferences, kissing, hunting or both, mistletoe can be used to your advantage over your quarry.

BIG FOOT MUSEUM - A replica of Big Foot Wallace's cabin at Big Foot, Frio County. Inside are a collection of Wallace memorabilia as well as other items from the 1880 era, including a size 22 cowboy boot.

Museum Cites 'Big Foot'

The Texas Good Roads Association this month highlights the Big Foot Museum in Frio County about 40 miles below San Antonio. The Museum honors the memory of William Alexander Anderson Wallace, picturesque, popular, daring frontier fighter, Texas Ranger, mail driver and tall-tale teller known during most of his long Texas career as Big Foot Wallace.

Virginia born, he was a kinsman of the Highlands clan heroes William Wallace and Robert Burns, cited by Robert Burns in familiar lines:
Scots, who have with Wallace bled,
Scots, whom Bruce has often led,
Welcome to your gory bed,
Or to Victory!

It's unlikely Wallace was quoting any poetry that Christmas afternoon in Mier, across from Roma near the Rio Grande. But he had the clan urge, right enough, he had come to Texas in 1837 to even up with the Mexicans for killing his brothers at Goliad. And prospects were, indeed, for a bloody bed if you considered the odds: nearly 10 to 1 against the Texans. After 17 hours of house-to-house, hand-to-hand fighting, the odds had narrowed some, the body count was said to be running 20 to 1 for the invaders.

But with powder and supplies dwindling low, the Texans were persuaded (they always said tricked) into surrendering. Then followed a long prisoners' march to Mexico City, interrupted by a brief escape and the "drawing of the black beans" at Hacienda Salado -- a grim lottery in which 17 men drew firing-squad deaths out of a bean-pot. Wallace survived the drawing, he survived a harrowing stay in Perote Prison, the Mexican War of 1846-47 and many other adventures which he and others recorded more or less faithfully.

The saying "a legend in his own time" could have been coined for Big Foot Wallace. Beyond his well-earned reputation as a fighting man, he was, as J. Frank Dobie phrased it, "a mellow and convivial soul" and a droll blanket-stretching story-spinner who was immensely popular with Texans.

The Big Foot Museum is open to the public for a small fee.

Selection Of College Said Vital

Much of the flunking out and disaffection of college students is caused because the school was chosen for the wrong reason, according to Washington, D.C. College Placement Bureau Director Loren Pope.

Students usually choose a college on the basis of what they have heard about it from family and friends and the impression the college representative makes, Pope explains. "It's the effect of the brand name and of the salesman -- not very reliable criteria for most."

"College selection is the one major consumer area of our economy where there is no consumer research and evaluation, though picking a college should be more important than choosing a car or a kitchen appliance."

He advises parents to recognize the scholastic limitations of their children and encourage them to apply to colleges that have student bodies of the same general academic achievement.

"It is not wise," Pope concludes "to push for a too-demanding college with the oft-made argument that this youth is a late bloomer."

Johnny Bailey Will Try For West Point

Johnny Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hardie Bailey of Cameron, has been nominated to take the competitive exam for the U.S. Military Academy.

Oranges Provide Holiday Magic

By Christine Laws

The legend of the Christmas stocking claims that St. Nicholas threw gold coins down the chimney, and the coins fell into stockings hung before the fire to dry, with gold goodies -- oranges and tangerines. Orange magic stored in Christmas stockings packs a double wallop. They're fun to peel and eat, but most important, they provide vitamin C magic. Oranges are plentiful and low in cost. And their bright and cheerful flavor starts the day off with a spark of energy.

A special Christmas treat for friends is a basket of fresh oranges and lemons. To make the baskets, buy chicken wire at hardware or garden shops. Use wire clippers to cut strips 24 inches long and 12 inches wide. Intertwine the wire ends to form a cylinder. Close the bottom and form into a bell shape. Spray with gold paint, then fill with fruit.

A surprise for mealtime is an orange flower garland. Cut peel from an orange in one long spiral strip about three-fourths inches wide, starting at stem end. Wind the peel up tightly, starting at bottom end. Serve as a garnish with meats or vegetables.

A favorite holiday recipe using oranges is orange carrots. Wash and scrape one bunch of carrots. Cut into one-fourth inch crosswise slices. In a small saucepan, bring three - fourths cup of water to a boil. Add one - half teaspoon salt and carrots. Cook, covered, until the carrots are just tender, then drain.

Add an orange which has been two tablespoons butter or margarine and one tablespoon fresh or freeze-dried chopped chives.

Return to heat until the orange pieces are just heated through. Serve at once.

REMOVING STAINS

Holidays mean good food, good times, and saying goodbye to good linens and garments decorated with cranberry stains, turkey gravy and candle wax.

But a few helpful hints on stain removing can restore beauty to soiled garments.

Cranberry stains are one of the hardest to remove. Promptly take stained garments and linen to a professional dry cleaner. Swift action will usually provide results.

To remove gravy from a washable fabric, EITHER SPONGE MATERIAL WITH CLEANING SOAP IT IN THE FLUID. If it remains, wash the cloth in warm suds and rinse. For dry cleaned fabrics, sponge with cool water, let dry then sponge with cleaning fluid or cleaning powder.

If candle wax drips on a washable fabric, remove excess wax with a dull knife. Place a towel under the stain and wet it thoroughly several times with a commercial drycleaning solvent. Dry and launder in heavy suds. For nonwashable fabrics, remove excess wax with a knife and sponge with a commercial drycleaning solvent.

Another method of removing candle wax is placing blotters over and under the stain then pressing with a warm iron. This method is effective to some degree, but it should be used only for grease from white candles. Heat sometimes turns the dye from colored candles into a difficult - to - remove stain.

Criminal Justice Council Approves CTCOG Grant

Texas Criminal Justice Council today approved a planning grant of $17,727 to the Central Texas Council of Governments, Belton.

Judge Joe Frazier Brown, executive director of the Council, said the grant will be used by the regional body to support its studies of criminal justice needs of the 6-county western portion of the Central Texas State Planning Region.

During the coming year attention will be focused on peace officer training, police policy and code manual, improved law enforcement recruitment methods, drug abuse treatment centers, public education, youth activities, regional training academy and crime laboratory, and riot control and civil disorder.

Counties included in the western portion of the Central Texas State Planning Region are: Mills, Hamilton, Coryell, Lampasas, Bell and Milam.

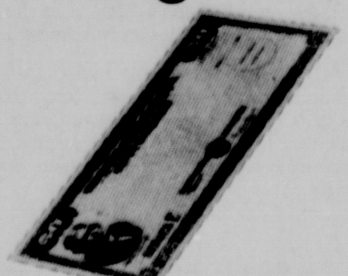

The criminal justice plans developed by the state planning regions provide input for the Criminal Justice Plan for Texas, which is used as the basis for action programs throughout the state in crime prevention and control.

The Criminal Justice Council administers planning and action grants to units of state and local government to assist them in formulating and carrying out projects in this area.

NOW, SANTA, WHAT I REALLY WANT IS...

HERE'S A FINE BUNCH OF MY FRIENDS...

MAMA, SANTA CLAUS IS SO NICE...

DON'T FORGET WHAT WE TOLD YOU, SANTA...

SIT HERE AND TELL OLD SANTA...

Santa Plans To Return

Santa had a nice, crisp sunny day for his first visit with children in Cameron Saturday and said he will be back this coming Saturday to hear from the ones he missed.

He will be in his sleigh on the courthouse lawn from 10 to 11 a.m., 1 to 3 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m. with a new supply of bubble gum, candy and balloons for his little friends.

Santa's helpers on hand Saturday weren't really little elves - who are all busy in the North Pole workshop - they were members of Boy Scout Troop 752.

If the weather is bad, he will be inside the courthouse in the first floor hall.

Yule Programs Set For Friday, Monday Nights

Special music to add to the Christmas season will be offered to the community this week and next week by two school groups.

The annual Christmas concert of the C. H. Yoe High School Band will be presented Friday night and young students from Ada Henderson will sing carols on the courthouse lawn on Monday evening.

The Yoe Band concert will start at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the National Guard Armory, Cameron. The band is directed by Dalton Harbers.

The program will include a list of traditional Christmas tunes and other numbers, both ranging from the classical to the contemporary scene.

The concert is open to the public. Tickets at the door will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Monday evening's open-air concert of carols will start at 7 on the courthouse lawn. Mrs. Glenda Dusek, music teacher, will lead the children.

Taking part in the concert will be children in third, fourth, and fifth grades at Ada Henderson School. They will offer a variety of traditional carols and novelty Christmas tunes.

Christmas Program

The Evangelical Brethren Church of Buckholts will present a Christmas program on Tuesday, December 22, at 7:30 p.m. The children of the Sunday School will present a brief program. This will be followed by a candlelight service in which all will participate. Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

Norway Cites Alcoa Chief

John D. Harper, board chairman and chief executive officer of Aluminum Company of America, received one of Norway's highest honors - The Knighthood of the Royal Norwegian Order of Saint Olav.

His Majesty King Olav V awarded the medal in recognition of Harper's "valuable services rendered to Norwegian industry."

Presentation of the medal, rarely given to a non-Norwegian, was by Major General Georg Bull, Chancellor of the Order.

Alcoa, in partnership with Alkem A/S, has a 50 percent interest in a primary aluminum smelter at Mosjoen, Norway, and in another nearing completion at Lista. It has had important Norwegian interests for many years.

With F.M.L.

A valedictory dinner was held in Austin Tuesday night for Senator Ralph Yarborough, only a day after President Nixon announced appointment of former Gov. John Connally the new secretary of treasury.

Senator-elect Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., of Houston succeeds in Yarborough's seat after the Texas senior senator lost to Bentsen in the Democratic primary who then defeated new UN Ambassador George Bush in the Senate race in November.

Texas political leadership has then taken a definite step to the center, but assumes international posture with Bush at the UN.

Yarborough probably authored more social legislation than any Southwestern senator except former President Lyndon Johnson, whose skills in the Senate both as Majority Leader and President pushed a remarkable measure of new education and social programs. President Johnson saw the Kennedy programs through after John Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas in 1963.

These events show the cycle of authority ever changing and ever including Texans, regardless of who is in the White House. Texas is now the fourth most populous state, a sign of even greater power for Texas in national and international affairs.

This chain of high-level influence which began with Colonel House, advisor to President Wilson, thus continues. It follows through the days of Senator Tom Connally, Congressman, the Speaker Sam Rayburn, Vice-President, earlier House Speaker John Nance Garner, of Uvalde, Senator John Tower, first Republican Senator from Texas since reconstruction, a power in the Nixon Administration and active in the Goldwater try for the presidency in the Johnson landslide of 1964.

John Connally, as destiny would have it, rode with John Kennedy that November day in 1963 when bullets struck both the President and the then Governor. Lucky to survive, Connally gained additional respect and international recognition which joins in his political acumen among men of affairs.

111-111-111

Perhaps Connally's appointment is a sign that the "country is leaderless", as Hubert Humphrey told a partisan Yarborough throng in Austin Tuesday night.

Perhaps President Nixon merely wants Connally's acumen for the 1972 campaign which requires a Texas GOP win to assume his re-election.

Whichever, and no one quite knows at this time. Texas continues to develop and even to return men of stature to Washington over a half century, crossing party lines at times to do it.

Oklahoma Driller To Try New Milbur Well

South Milam County's Milbur Field, now three years old, had a new wildcat scheduled last Friday as the usual year end drilling boom got under way in this area.

The new wildcat will be drilled by White Shield Oil and Gas Corporation of Tulsa, Oklahoma. It will be their No. 1 H. H. Coffield, located on acreage in the east side of Eliza Santa Survey. Drillsite will be about one-half mile from the Burleson County line.

The Coffield is permitted to 4,000 feet and has the Navarro as its target formation. Some production in the Milbur Field comes from the Navarro, but most of the wells produce from the Wilcox, which lies above the Navarro in that area.

White Shield entered the Milbur Field last spring, drilling its No. 1 P. H. Perry, located on a 250 acre lease, and shortly afterwards its second wildcat, the No. 1 W. P. Hogan, on nearby acreage.

Both wildcats were in the D. H. Vanveightan Survey.

Potential figures which White Shield filed in August on the No. 1 Perry showed it produced 49 barrels of 40 gravity oil per day from the Navarro on perforations at 3,449 - 80 feet on 20 - 64 inch choke under 100 pounds pressure on tubing after receiving frac treatment. White Shield's No. 1 Hogan also was reported to be a good producer.

The Corporation's new Coffield wildcat is located southwest of its Perry and Hogan wells and on the same trend in the field.

BLOODMOBILE NETS 132 UNITS

The Red Cross bloodmobile collected 132 units from local and area donors in Cameron Tuesday, nearly double the 71-unit quota.

At least 50 Texas Highway Department employees from the Bryan District, and a number from the local highway maintenance department swelled the total of prospective donors to 140.

Sister Aloysius, local blood program chairman, said these donors, and many others were offering replacements for two local men. She said one of the men had donated 12 pints over the years, and had received six recently.

"It does make a difference when you are giving for a specific person," Sister Aloysius said, "but our faithful donors and some new ones gave, just knowing it is needed."

BUSY AFTERNOON FOR RED CROSS bloodmobile workers as they treated 140 prospective donors and collected 132 pints of blood here Tuesday. About 50 came from Bryan and surrounding areas to offer replacements for a local fellow employee. Extra cots were set up, but no one complained about the extra work, as Cameron's 71-pint quota was nearly doubled.

Viva!.....

Pants suits triumph in Cameron Schools.

Female teachers and students are "liberated" to this new option as long as they are pant suits, not jeans and T-shirts, according to School officials.

It is another alternative in the sophisticated dress of the male and female form in this country.

If pants suits seem "new", consider the colors, the variations, patterns and stripes that are typical of male dress these days. It may not be long before gray, blue and brown basic for men will be as old as the bright colors are new.

Never a dull moment these days, is there? One prediction, however. The he - she outfits shown in some high fashion magazines will never make it.

How do the French say it?
"Viva la difference!"

Easy Answers Era Passing

A pattern of growth problems is emerging in the Central Texas area.

Schools, water systems,
housing, resthomes, streets, tax base -- the numerous elements which supply basic needs of a changing scene are being tested.

Cameron Schools leadership is planning a study of future building needs as Rose-bud-Lott approves plans for a new consolidated high school even as Caldwell turns down a $1.3 bond issue by a 3-1 margin.

Rockdale considers the possibility of a bond issue to deal with a city sewage plant limitation while Rosebud sees completion nearing of a large resthome and even while Cameron dedicates its second new hospital in less than 10 years.

Hearne opens a new firehouse as a public meeting is scheduled to discuss phone service in a small community in Milam County.

The public needs better facilities all around, many of which they have been viewing for years, but apparently now are beginning to act upon -- either to reject or approve -- as public boards and councils see needs catching up with older methods and public structures.

Public officials at regional, county, school and city level can appreciate that each unit's problem is not singular and in effect is part of the main problem or change. . . that yesterday's institutions simply do not meet today's challenges.

Overall response is positive as state and national leadership views more closely the role of non-metro areas like Central Texas where population is stabilizing, but is just as aware of modern services as metro cousins. But the job is a continuous one and is demanding a new view of the relationship between communities and counties and schools.

The old day of easy answers is passing.

"Low Down"
FROM THE Congressional Record
By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

EX-PRES. TRUMAN NOT IN NEED AS RUMORED

SENATOR STEPHEN M.
YOUNG (Ohio) "... President Nixon and the White House staffers are engaging in a large-scale lobbying effort to boost the annual pension for ex-Presidents from $25,000 to $60,000 and to increase the pensions of the widows of former Presidents, all of whom are in affluent circumstances. This is an intensive, but hush-hush, lobbying action.

"I intend to be extremely watchful on this subject, but it is physically impossible for me to be on the floor of the Senate at all times, and I am calling attention to that pending bill, hoping that if it should pass the other body, it will be stopped here. . .

"Eight percent of the salary of every Member of Congress--Senator and Representative--is deducted for retirement. No deductions have ever been made from the presidential salary, now

$200,000 per annum.

"Incidentally, that salary was increased 100 per cent by this Congress, and I am glad to say that I voted for the amendment which would have increased President Nixon's salary from $100,000 to $150,000. That was defeated.

"No Ohio constituent has ever written me objecting to that 100 percent increase for President Nixon's salary, but constituents have written finding fault with the fact that Senator's and Representatives received an increase in their salaries at a time of ever-expanding and seemingly uncontrollable inflation. . .

"No deductions have ever been made from President Nixon's salary. Therefore, there is no question that this is an out-an-out $60,000 yearly pension that is sought.

"White House lobbyists claim that both President Nixon and former President

Johnson really do not need this additional money. They say they urge this because they are so sorry that former President Harry Truman really needs it.

"President Truman is in modest financial circumstances, but he says that he and Mrs. Truman are happy and enjoying life. He says they are getting along just fine. He could care less about this White House proposal.
Someone seems greedy for more money every year as a pension; and it is not Harry S. Truman."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

If ex-President Harry S.
Truman is happy and enjoying life, and doesn't need the money; why the suggested increase? The promised debate should let in a little light on the subject. -J.C.

Sec.Dies Orders Overhaul Of Elections, Registration

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN
Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., as Texas' chief election officer, has urged complete overhaul of the state's primary election machinery and voter registration system.

Dies told the House committee studying election reform that Texas faces a crisis in election operations and must, with counties, assume financing and conduct of primaries.

Election fees, although already too high, said Dies, no longer adequately finance elections.

Texas' chief election officer said he personally favors September and October primaries to concentrate the election period, ease the strain on candidates and increase waning voter interest.

Dies also strongly recommends the junking of annual voter registration and substituting the system of re-registration - by - voting used by most states.

Both early primaries (and January 31 voter registration cutoff) and annual registration are under court attack.

If Federal judges declare both unconstitutional, Dies told the committee, Texas will be unable to hold primaries or register voters until the Legislature orders changes.

LAND-BOND SALE

Veterans Land Program, in limbo for a year, got a new lease on life with the sale of $25 million worth of bonds at a weighted average interest rate of 4.06 per cent.

Low bid was submitted by Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York and Saloman Brothers.
Others ranged from 4.09 to 4.14 per cent.

Veterans Land Board apparently made low bids possible by offering the sale to 18-year payoffs instead of the usual 25-year and longer - term bonds.
Even though veterans have 40 years to pay off land purchases under the program, surpluses accumulated since 1949 make short-term bonds feasible, according to a land office spokesman.

Although the Board was authorized to sell some $140 million more, bonds could not be marketed earlier because they were subject to the constitutional interest rate limit of 4.5

per cent.

Latest bond offering, to the surprise of nearly everybody, brought five bids below the rate ceiling.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Board chairman, said guidelines for applications by veterans under the revived program for purchase of land on long - term, low - interest loans soon will be released.

Applications, according to Sadler, must be filed by the middle of January.

Last bonds were marketed two years ago before interest rates took off on a long, steep climb upward.

About $115 million in bonds authorized by voters still remain unsold. This new $25 million sale is expected to meet the demands for four years.

URBAN PANEL REPORTS

Texas Urban Development Commission has recommended creation of new state agencies and programs to help make cities more pleasant in which to live.

Committee's 50-page interim report to Gov. Preston Smith gave primary attention to transportation and housing problems and the need for cooperation among state and local governments.

Group recommended that an Interagency Transportation Council be created to provide adequate planning and assistance for comprehensive transportation systems.

Other agencies recommended for creation were: a Department of Community Affairs to aid local governments, administer planning and housing programs as well as to develop and administer economic opportunity programs; a Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations; a Human Resources Council; a Texas Housing Finance Corporation; and an Urban Assistance Board.

Additional recommendations covered fields of law enforcement, natural resource management (aid for waste water plant construction), health standards, property tax administration balanced growth and strengthening local government.

DREDGERS ORDERED OUT

Parks and Wildlife Department ordered three shell dredge operations working offshore from the Aransas Wildlife Refuge to discontinue operations in north San Antonio Bay by January 1.

Area closed extends from Mc-Dowell Point on the west to about midway between Swan Point and Mosquito Point on the east.

PWD said dredgers were disturbng the freshwater - saltwater balance in part of a 16-000 - acre area. Survival of marine organisms below half an inch in length was threatened by salt water inflow resulting from the dredging, PWD spokesmen claimed.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Since I don't depend on the mail service as much as a lot of people, I can't tell any difference in a newspaper delivered by Uncle Sam and one delivered by a good strong north wind. I figure I can take a calmer view of the mail situation that always develops along about this time of the year, railroad strike or no railroad strike.

Actually of course a railroad strike isn't all bad for the Post Office Department, especially in big cities. It gives it an excuse for getting bogged down in mail it was going to get bogged down in anyway.

But everybody recognizes mail service isn't what it used to be and something ought to be done about it.

One solution the Post Office Department is looking into is a machine that reads handwriting.
It wants a machine that can look at the address on a letter, decipher it, and ship it on its way, un-touched by human hand.

If they can get a machine smart enough to read some people's handwriting, for example mine and some others I know, we wouldn't need to write letters at all. Just let the machines write each other. One objection to this though would be the amount of unemployment it'd create among postmasters.

Another method to avoid the Christmas log-jam of mail of course would be to hold Christmas just every tenth years, but I doubt if it'd catch on.

Or, since I don't have any trouble at all getting a letter from this Johnson grass farm to your office in Cameron, maybe Congress should prohibit a man's writing a letter that goes any further than his mail carrier can carry it.

Actually there's nothing wrong with the mail system. It's just sort of like the highway system too many people try to use it at the same time.

If everybody followed Mark Twain's system we wouldn't have any mail problems at all. He said if you'd wait six months before answering your letters you'd be surprised how few needed answering.

If you think this is a good idea,
let me know along about next June.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Compensation
For Fright?

Truck driver Fred, on a downhill slope, suddenly discovered that his brakes had failed. To his consternation, the truck began to pick up speed. Finally Fred managed to bring it to a halt against a hillside.

A short time later, however, he suffered a stroke. Could he collect workmen's compensation for his disability?

In a court test, the company argued that he could not.

"There was no physical injury at the time of the accident," said the company. "He just got very frightened. Workmen's compensation was never intended to protect a workman against mere fright."

But the court granted Fred's claim, since the "mere fright" had led directly to serious physical harm.

In most cases, compensation is indeed payable for fright that is followed by clear physical consequences. This is true even if the consequences are not as immediate as in Fred's case. Take this situation:

Rumors of possible rioting began to swirl around an American agency in a foreign capital. The rioting never did break out, but several days of nervous tension finally brought one government employee down with a heart attack.

He too claimed workmen's compensation. And a court ruled that he was entitled to it. The court attached no great importance to the fact that his heart attack followed a prolonged period of "nerves" rather than a single scare.

Still, there at least must be a causal connection between the job and the disability. In another case, a workman with heart trouble suffered an attack after a mild disagreement with his foreman.
Under these circumstances, a court decided that the man was not entitled to workmen's compensation.

The court said he had not been subjected to anything worse than "the countless irritations to which all workers are occasionally subjected without untoward results."

Therefore, said the court, his heart attack could not fairly be considered a product of his work.

Sharp, Tracy, Friendship

By Mrs. Leroy Guillote

Christmas is almost here, and I had told myself for months, that Christmas would be so wonderful for us this year, that even with my children so far from home, this is the first Christmas we don't have a son in the war area.

Somehow, it didn't seem to make any difference, the whole world is in such a turmoil, and seeing Xmas trees put out in September, made Christmas seem as artificial as the trees were. Between hearing buy this, buy early, Mell, killed, buy, war,

I am sure I am not alone in my feelings, and search for understanding.

Last week, I learned. While in town, around so many people, there seemed to be no strangers, such a wonderful feeling of Good Will Towards All Men. If that feeling could exist, there could be Peace On Earth.

However, even if we can only have this wonderful feeling for such a short while, it lets us all as one know that Christmas is the birth of our Savior, Christ. The gifts to the baby were gifts of love, and so Christmas isn't really just a commercial holiday as so many tell us now days. Christ was born, lived, and died, to show us, and comfort us, who have lost their loved ones, that they are now with God for All Eternity. I give thanks for this, and hope it will help so many who have faced sorrow this year.

Last week, I wrote Mrs. Jerry Harbuz's mother had passed away, it was her father. Her neighbor, Mr. George Triggs lost his brother, and services were held in Cameron, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Benny Reynolds of Houston had just returned home after spending the Thanksgiving holidays in Cameron and Tracy, only to be called back due to the death of Mr. Reynolds' mother, Mrs. Reynolds Newman of Cameron. They spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Roseler before returning to Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cryer of Baytown have been visiting Mrs. Jim Cryer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thiele of Taylor were Sunday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coffman.

Mrs. E. J. Rinn, Elmer and Norma attended the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Will Gilbert in Buckholts Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Garlon Lawrence, Jr. is home after spending a month in Seton Hospital in Austin.

Home Demonstration Clubs had their annual Christmas party in Tracy with the Tracy-Duncan Club as hostesses. About 35 members were present, and the party was held in the Tracy Methodist Church fellowship club.

J. D. Pope is recovering from eye surgery at home after spending several days at Scott and White Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Englishbee have a new baby girl, born in Temple at Scott and White.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hanke spent Saturday in Bryan with the Tim Hanke's. Sunday, they were in Cooperas Cove, helping their niece, Susan, celebrate her 13th birthday. Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hanke.

Farmer Has No Monopoly On Subsidies, Study Says

WASHINGTON

The House Committee on Agriculture announced today the publication of a study on the history and development of subsidies in America.

Issued as a Committee Print entitled "Government Subsidy - Historical Review," it seeks to correct a popular notion that agriculture has a monopoly on SUCH Federal largesse when in fact virtually all segments of the American economy share either directly or indirectly in tax-funded subsidies.

Committee Chairman W. R. Poage (D-Tex.), in a foreword in the publication, notes that payments labeled a subsidy by one man may be considered properly due compensation by another.

Declaring that the $3.5 billion paid out annually on crop price support programs benefits consumers as well as producers, Poage in the foreword said:

"So long as the farmer must buy his equipment and supplies in a Government-protected market, and hire labor at pay scales enforced with Government laws and regulations, it would seem necessary that he, too, receive a degree of Government financial backing in his efforts to meet the Nation's nutritional needs."

"Moreover, it should be kept in mind that many nations of the world subsidize agricultural operations, even though their crops are produced with low standard of living labor, and that the American farmer successfully meets such competition only because of his advanced technology and use of costly fertilizers and other chemicals which have resulted in high yields per acre."

Chairman Poage in a statement accompanying announcement of the study's publication, observed that it is being released shortly after the new 3-year farm bill has become law.

"During debate on the farm bill," he said, "it was again apparent that there is widespread misunderstanding about crop price supports and little acknowledgment that they have their equivalent elsewhere in our economy."

"It is hoped that the figures and facts set forth in this publication will be accepted as free of bias, or propaganda motives, which might have been charged if we had released the publication while the farm bill was still under consideration."

The document notes that the First Congress enacted legislation in 1789 specifying that goods imported into the United States on American vessels should have a 10 percent reduction in customs duties, and over the intervening years there have been vast amounts taken out of the U.S. Treasury to pay part of the cost of building and operating U.S. Flag Vessels.

Railroads originally were subsidized with large grants of the public domain, a high point being reached between 1862-1866 when over 100 million acres were granted. Additionally hundreds of millions of dollars in grants and loans have helped them during the past century.

Water carriers and airlines also have come in for hundreds of millions of dollars in Federal aid.

The cost of operating the postal system has long been paid in part with tax money, the committee study asserts and sets Post Office Department estimates outlining indirect postal subsidies to big circulation national magazines, including as much as $15.6 million to Life and $9.4 million to Readers Digest.

Turning to the manufacturing and industrial segment of the economy, the study points to the advantages embodied in accelerated amortization of defense facilities for tax purposes.

Tariffs, the study declares, are like a subsidy in that they shield American producers of certain items from foreign competition with the result that the American consumer of this particular commodity pays a higher price for it than would otherwise be the case.

In its conclusion, the committee study after reiterating that few if any areas of the economy are untouched by subsidy or subsidy-like programs, supported farm crop price programs.

These programs promote and assure adequate supplies of food and fiber at reasonable prices for all Americans, the study states.

County Agent's Notes New Farm Tax Guide Available

By J. D. Moore

The Internal Revenue Service has prepared the 1971 Farmer's Tax Guide to help file your 1970 Federal income tax return.

Tax rules of importance to farmers are explained in everyday language. Examples throughout the booklet show how these rules apply to actual farming situation. This edition reflects many of the latest changes in the Federal tax laws, of significance to farmers, resulting from the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

The tax rights and obligations of farmers are explained in detail, including the new rules for recapturing, as ordinary income, gain on the sale or other disposition of livestock to the extent attributable to depreciation after 1969, lengthening the holding period for livestock, recapturing soil and water conservation expenditures as ordinary income upon sale or other disposition of land.

The repeal of the investment credit also is discussed. The new tax guides may be picked up at the county agent's office or mailed to those who request them.

FISH FARM CONFERENCE

The first annual convention of catfish farmers of Texas will be held at the Memorial Student Center, Texas A&M University, January 7 and 8, 1971.

Pre-registration is requested but not mandatory. The registration fee of $10.00 will be used for printing proceedings and handout material. Programs and registration forms are available at the County Extension office.

Fertilize small grains with nitrogen now advises Dr. John Chapin, area agronomist. Most all of the nitrogen put down at planting time has been utilized by small grain growth says Dr. Chapin.

50 or 60 pounds of nitrogen as a top dressing would be sufficient to stimulate regrowth following the current grassing off period. Due to the expected cold weather, no additional nitrogen will be recommended until about March 1, 1971.

Dr. Chapin attended the small grain and grass tour conducted for Milam stockmen on December 8, and discussed fertilizing small grains and pasture grasses.

Aliens In US Must Report Addresses

District Director John W. Holland of the Immigration and Naturalization Service stated that aliens in the United States will be required to report their addresses to the Attorney General within the near future.

All aliens, with few exceptions, who are in the United States on January 1 each year must report their addresses by the end of that month.

Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: 1. accredited Diplomats; and 2. Persons accredited to certain international organizations.

Forms with which to make the report can be obtained from any Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Service Office during the month of January.

Also, this year the reporting requirement has been broadened to additionally provide for the mailing of completed address reports directly to the nearest office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The cards will still be received at all post offices and Immigration and Naturalization Service offices as in the past. Holland said that the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirement.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

The new farm programs recently passed by legislation include cropland set-aside programs for cotton, wheat, and feed grain which offer a great deal of flexibility in the selection of crop acreages.

Under the new cotton program, in order for a producer to earn cotton price support payments and become eligible for a CCC Loan on the entire cotton production under the 1971 program, a producer must sign up and set aside an acreage of cropland from crop production equal to a specified percentage of the base acreage allotment.

In addition, you must maintain the conserving base established for the farm. The balance of the cropland acreage can be devoted to upland cotton, wheat, corn, or any other crop you desire (except acreage of tobacco, rice, peanuts, extra long staple cotton, and sugar crops are limited under those respective programs).

The land set aside must be cropland meeting requirements that are acceptable to the county committee and no crop can be harvested from such acreage. The set-aside acreage must be put into conserving use.

Producers are required to plant cotton in order to earn a price support payment. Also, if less than 90 percent of the base acreage allotment is planted, the base acreage allotment for 1971 and subsequent years will be reduced except if the underplanting is due to drought, flood, or other natural disaster.

Wheat and feed grains planted on cotton allotment will be counted as cotton for allotment retention purposes.

The Agricultural Act of 1970 limits cotton payment to any person to $55,000. This limitation does not apply to loans.

Special provision for small farms also is provided. The payment rate will be increased by 30 percent to any producer who: 1. is on a farm on which the base acreage allotment is 10 acres or less or with payment production from the farm base allotment of 5,000 pounds or less; 2. resides on such farm; and 3. derives his principal income from cotton produced on such farm.

This additional payment will be made on the basis of the producer's share of cotton actually harvested within the allotment on the farm in 1971.

Release and reapportionment and sale and lease of allotment are also continued under the new program. The December 31 deadline for filing applications for sale and lease of allotments is eliminated so producers will have ample time to complete these transactions.

We will be giving some of the details for the 1971 feed grain program in the next ASCS news article. For more details concerning the 1971 cotton program, contact the Milam County ASCS Office.

Swine Producers Hear Anti-Pollution Regulations

By Danny Phillips, ACAA

County swine producers heard a representative from the Texas Water Quality Board outline regulations aimed at preventing pollution of Milam's creeks and streams at a meeting here Friday.

Sponsored by the county Rural Development Committee, the meeting also featured slides showing how agriculture can cause pollution by soil erosion, use of fertilizer and pesticides, and from animal wastes.

Joe Morgan, Water Quality Board district supervisor, explained that swine production is considered an industry, and said, "We don't want waste water from any industry going into our streams."

He urged swine producers to get in touch with the Austin office for a field representative to visit the producer's operation and help complete the necessary registration form. Producers can write: Texas Water Quality Board, 1108 Lavaca St., Austin, Tex. 78701.

Morgan said many producers are already in compliance with regulations and don't realize it, therefore a field representative's visit would assure them.

"Basically we require a catch basin or holding pond to catch runoff from feed lots or feeding areas," he said, "and this waste water can be pumped back on fields. If desired, Diversion terraces or pastures between swine feeding areas and creeks will also serve to keep wastes from reaching waterways."

Registration is required for producers with 50 or more animal units, confined in an area of 2,000 square feet or less.

An animal unit was defined as a swine weighing 50 pounds or more; or 10 piglets (animals weighing less than 50 pounds). However, Morgan said regulations apply to swine operations, regardless of the number of animals, if they are creating a pollution problem.

He also explained that dairy and poultry producers must get "no discharge permits" from the Board, whereas swine producers are only required to register.

About 20 people attended the meeting, including Jack Jones, Rural Development specialist from A&M University, who also spoke on pollution problems.

NEW IDEAS NEEDED

In order for this weekly column to be a success new ideas must be injected at various times. If any readers have any suggestions on ways to better this column, please let me know.

Poage, Ellender Cited By Farm Magazine

Two of agriculture's long-time spokesmen in Washington, Cong. W. R. Poage, of Texas, and Sen. Allen J. Ellender, of Louisiana, have been named Men of the Year in Service to Southern Agriculture by The Progressive Farmer magazine.

They join a long list of farmers and farm leaders who have been awarded this honor since Dr. Charles Herty, the man who developed methods for converting pine trees into paper, was named in 1937.

Poage was elected to the U. S. Congress in 1936 and has served the 11th District of Texas continuously since that time. He has been chairman of the House Agriculture Committee since 1966 and a member of the committee.

His leadership in the House helped bring about legislation on small watersheds, the PL 480 program through which underprivileged nations around the world shared in America's abundance of food, soil conservation programs, and numerous others.

Poage helped develop the recently passed farm program under which the nation's agricultural system will operate during the next three years.

FARM NEWS

RANGE FIRES

Frost, freezes plus dry and windy weather have materially increased fire hazards throughout the state. Pasture and range fires can swiftly and completely wipe out winter feed reserves, destroy wildlife and its habitat and leave the soil bare and unprotected from water and wind erosion. Keep fire plans active until the soil moisture situation improves, advise Extension range specialists.

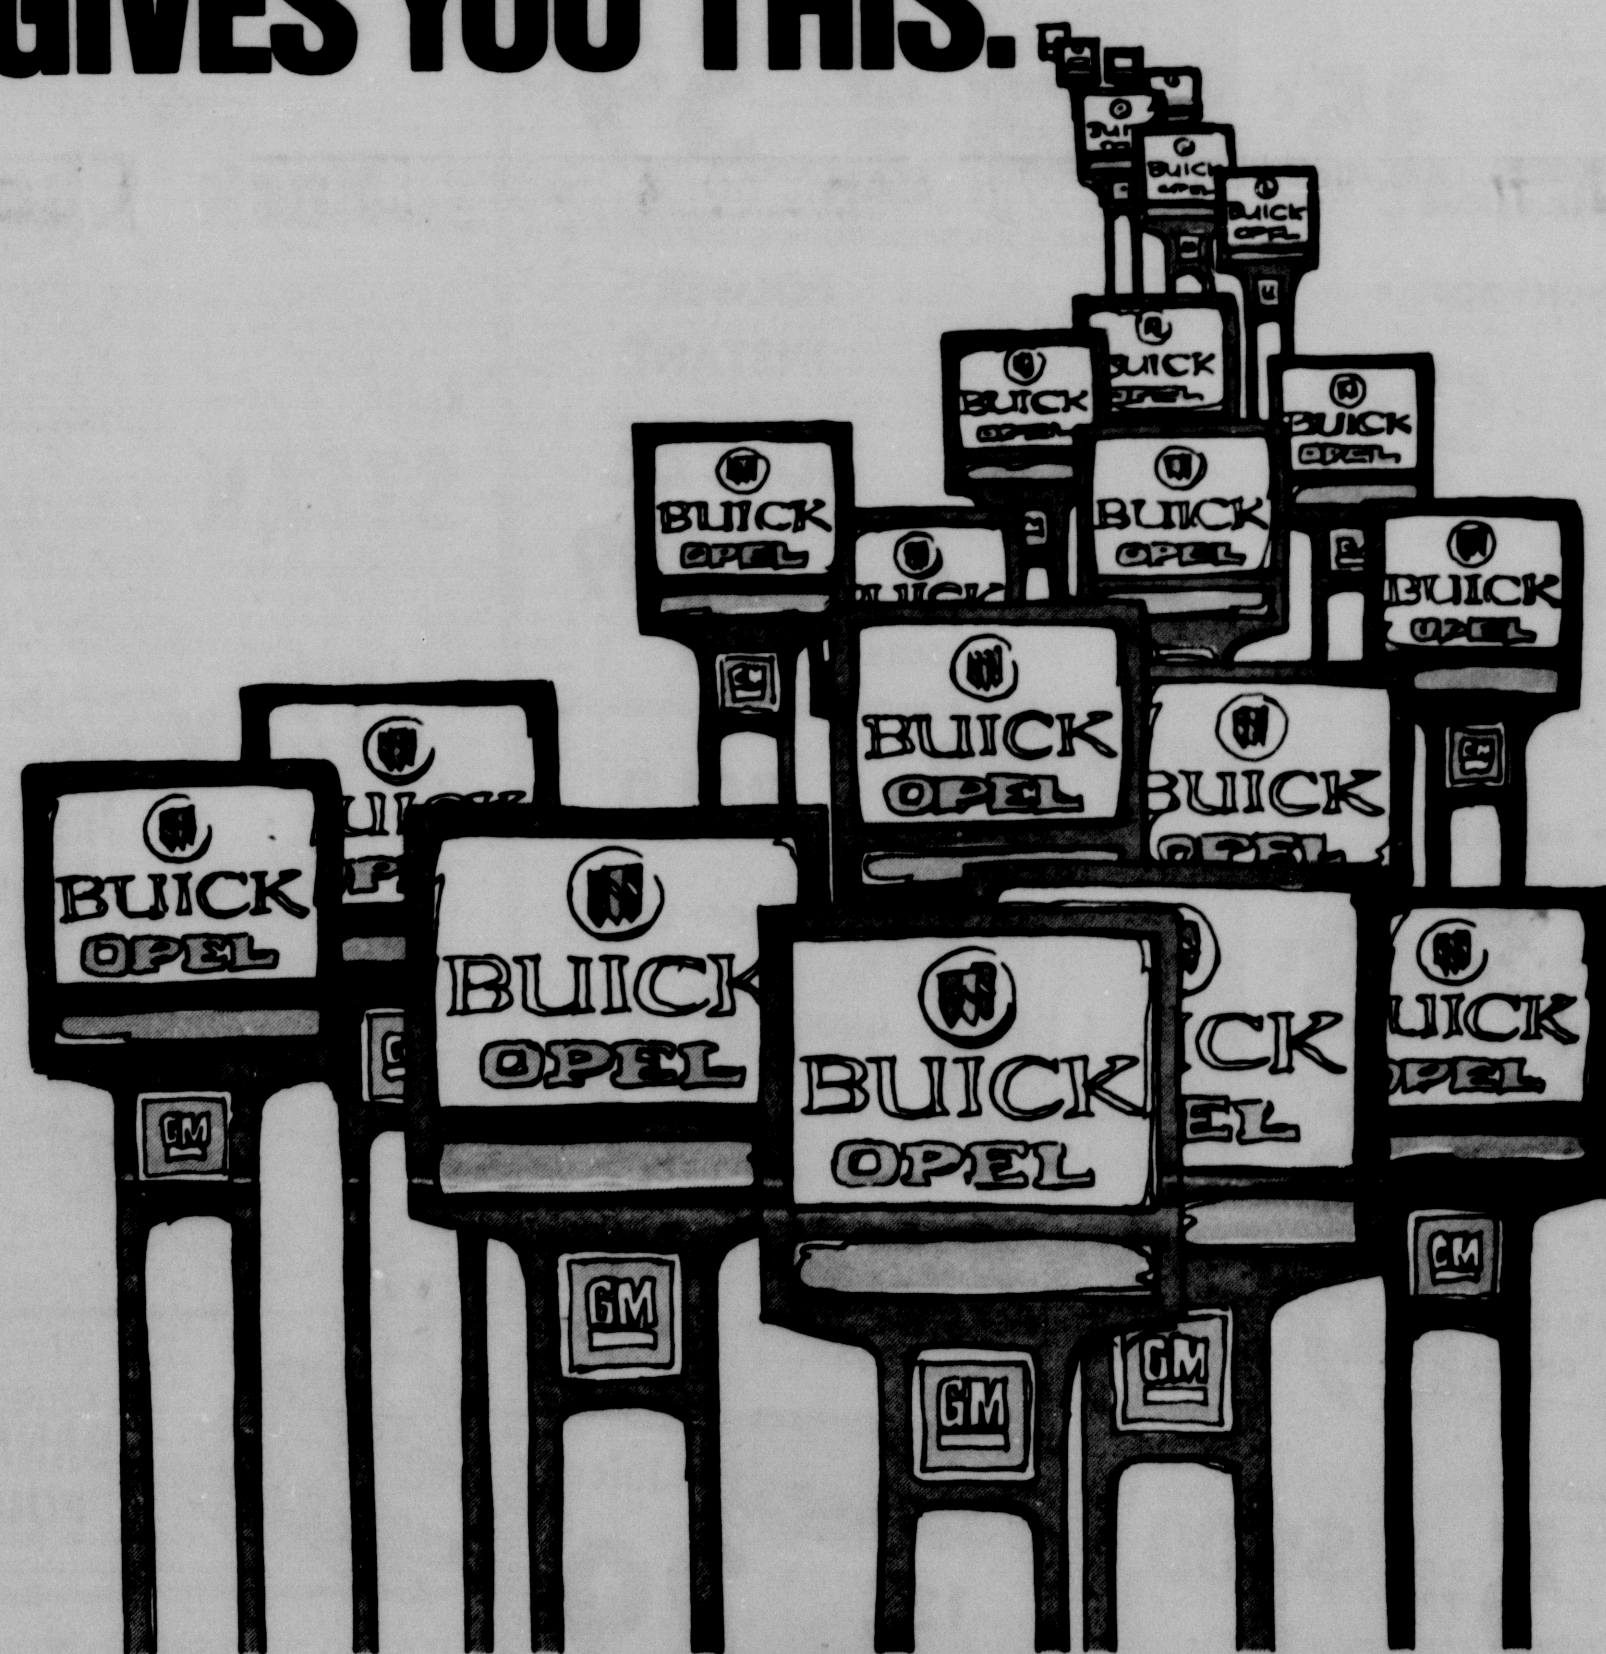

BRUSH CONTROL

Basal treatment of individual trees is best done when soil is dry and cracked away from the trunk at the surface. Conversely, mechanical methods like chaining are most successful when soil moisture is adequate to permit uprooting.

HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS

Deaths from accidents in the U. S. last December totaled 10,100. Down slightly from the year before but 700 more than the monthly average. Top killers were motor vehicle accidents, followed by fire and falls.

NO OTHER ECONOMY CAR (FOREIGN OR DOMESTIC) GIVES YOU THIS.

Now Opel brings you more than just a good economy car. It brings you a good local dealer too.

Badgerettes Win Third In Thrall Cage Tourney

Last weekend, the Buckholts Lassies took part in the Thrall Tournament along with six other schools.

They were Milano, Bartlett, Granger, Thorndale, Dime Box, and the A and B teams from Thrall.

The Badgerettes played the Bartlett Lassies Thursday night and defeated them by a score of 31-21. Becky Beckhusen led the scoring for the Badgerettes by dumping in 17 points. Sara Ware led the Lassies with 12 points.

The boys lost to the Bartlett Bulldogs 61-36. Gordon Haisler led the Badgers with 13 points. W. Powell led Bartlett with 40 points.

The boys then played Friday afternoon and lost again to the Granger Lions. Larry Orsag topped the Badger scoring by totaling 17 points. High scorer for Granger was R. Caldwell with 22.

Friday night, the Badgerettes lost a disappointing, but hard fought battle to the Thrall girls 48-46. Becky Beckhusen threw in 29 points to pace the Badgerettes.

Linda Dvorak scored 28 points, to pace the Thrall Tigers. This placed the Badgerettes into the third place finals.

In the finals, the Badgerettes played against Thorndale and defeated them for third place honors 44-32. Martha Vaculin topped the

Nut Shells 'Tattle' On What's Inside

The outer shells of nuts may give hints on the quality inside. Pick clean, bright shells; they are most likely to contain good kernels.

Shells that are dirty, dull, indicative of defective kernels. The heavier the nuts, the meatier the kernel.

Unshelled nuts, often marked with lower prices, require about two pounds to yield one pound of nutmeats. Shelled nuts, however, save time, labor and storage space.

Shelled nuts keep best in airtight containers in the refrigerator, or even up to a year in the freezer.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yolles, M.D., Director National Institute of Mental Health

Nobel Prize

Sitting in a dentist's chair, Dr. Julius Axelrod first learned that he had been awarded the Nobel Prize for Medicine.

This happened not long ago and is particularly significant at this time for two reasons.

One is that the prize, for brain function research which has found practical application in the development and use of drugs for mental illness, represents a recognition that mental health can be advanced and mental illness attacked successfully by research.

The second reason for the award's significance is that it demonstrates positively that basic research pays off. The winning of the 1970 Nobel Prize for Medicine, shared by Dr. Axelrod with Professor Ulf von Euler of Sweden and Sir Bernard Katz of England, is also an important recognition of U.S. Government medical research.

Dr. Axelrod has been a researcher with the National Institute of Mental Health for many years and has helped advance the understanding of the brain's chemistry and the way it works in a number of ways.

When his dentist told him he had heard the news on the radio, Dr. Axelrod at first had difficulty believing it. Later, explaining his work, he said that it helped "to develop an understanding of the sympathetic nervous system which would allow development of more effective and safer drugs for mental illness."

The development of antidepressant drugs is an example. Another is the development of a drug called L-dopa for the treatment of Parkinson's disease.

KEEP in TOUCH

Isolation is a bad word. It means to separate as one would take rotten apples from good ones, or remove an infected person from noninfected ones. We also might isolate ourselves from others just by removing the mail box from the corner. But to do without the mail box would be unthinkable. Intercity, intercommunity, interstate and inter-country communication would suffer.

Our mail boxes help us to keep in touch with each other. But the mail box does not answer all our communication needs. Our spiritual requirements must be supplied. We must have a faith to live by and hope to give us a sense of security. They come through prayer. The mail box may help us keep in contact with each other, but prayer and then more prayer will keep us in touch with God. If you think your mail box is indispensable, then what do you think about your church? One church means more to your community than all its postal facilities. The United States mail box is a wonderful thing, but keeping in touch with your God is much more wonderful. Keep in touch with God.

Mistletoe. Golden Bough

AUSTIN
If one takes a cold and clinical look at mistletoe, he sees a rather lackluster parasite with tiny flowers, sticky berries and a reputation for hanging around where the action is during the holiday season.

But hardly any society which ever functioned beneath trees infested with mistletoe has taken the stuff in such a light vein.

Flower power wilts when placed beside the magical qualities attributed through the ages to mistletoe.

A botanist could drone endlessly about how mistletoe is a parasite which gathers some food through its aerial green leaves but derives most of its nourishment through its root system under the bark of the host tree and whose small flowers attract insects which carry pollen from other mistletoe sprigs.

But a student of history or mythology sees mistletoe in quite a different light. Here is a plant which caused the fall of kingdoms and received the attentions of the gods.

Mistletoe is thought to be the "Golden Bough" of the sacred oak in Italy long ago. A pretender to the title of King of the Wood whose duty was to defend the Golden Bough in this early society could become king only by killing the wearer of the crown. A runaway slave, if he were able to break off one of the magic branches, could challenge the king to combat. If he killed the king, he then became King of the Wood with a term of office about as long as the next quick knife thrust.

Mistletoe's present day alliance with the common cold

toe, and understandable enough oversight. The evil god Loke arranged for Balder to be killed by a dart made of mistletoe, but Hela, the goddess who took care of the dead, returned him to life, saying that mistletoe would never harm him if it were kept from touching the ground. Freya was given custody of mistletoe, and since she was the goddess of love, mistletoe is associated with kissing.

Christian mythology has it that mistletoe was once a normal forest tree whose wood was used to make Christ's cross. A guilt complex supposedly resulted, causing mistletoe to become sort of a botanical dropout which withdrew to the treetops to become a parasite.

In parts of Europe mistletoe is referred to as "Holy Cross Wood," and being holy, of course, it repels witches. This, mistletoe and figurines made of mistletoe can still be found hanging over doors to counteract the powers of conjurers. It was hung in European barns to make cattle fertile and to keep trolls and witches from souring the milk.

That fun bunch, the Druids, liked to swing with mistletoe moonshine. They used a golden sickle for cutting the plant, caught it in a white cloth and, presumably for good luck, sacrificed two white bulls -- good luck maybe for a strong brew, but very bad luck for white bulls.

A proprietor of a traveling medicine show must have tabulated the list of ailments which mistletoe is supposed to cure. Infertility, epilepsy, palsy and ulcers are just a few of the maladies which allegedly can be treated with mistletoe. But a word of caution is due here for folk-cure buffs. At least one of the 10 species of mistletoe in the U.S. is toxic to man.

These days the most common use of mistletoe is inducing persons who wouldn't ordinarily touch you with a ten-foot pole to kiss you. If this isn't appealing, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reports a second use -- as deer feed. Deer reportedly become somewhat less cautious in the presence of mistletoe. Unless they somehow learn to climb trees, deer miss out on this rare treat.

One biologist for the Department reports deer on one brush clearing project were sometimes in danger of being run over by the bulldozer because they pounced on the mistletoe as soon as the trees fell.

So whatever your preferences, kissing, hunting or both, mistletoe can be used to your advantage over your quarry.

BIG FOOT MUSEUM - A replica of Big Foot Wallace's cabin at Big Foot, Frio County. Inside are a collection of Wallace memorabilia as well as other items from the 1880 era, including a size 22 cowboy boot.

Museum Cites 'Big Foot'

The Texas Good Roads Association this month highlights the Big Foot Museum in Frio County about 40 miles below San Antonio. The Museum honors the memory of William Alexander Anderson Wallace, picturesque, popular, daring frontier fighter, Texas Ranger, mail driver and tall-tale teller known during most of his long Texas career as Big Foot Wallace.

Virginia born, he was a kinsman of the Highlands clanheroes William Wallace and Robert Burns, cited by Robert Burns in familiar lines:

Scots, who have with Wallace bled,
Scots, whom Bruce has often led,
Welcome to your gory bed,
Or to Victory!

It's unlikely Wallace was quoting any poetry that Christmas afternoon in Mier, across from Roma near the Rio Grande. But he had the clan urge, right enough, he had come to Texas in 1837 to even up with the Mexicans for killing his brothers at Goliad.

And prospects were, indeed, for a bloody bed if you considered the odds: nearly 10 to 1 against the Texans. After 17 hours of house-to-house, hand-to-hand fighting, the odds had narrowed some, the body count was said to be running 20 to 1 for the invaders.

Selection Of College Said Vital

Much of the flunking outand disaffection of college students is caused because the school was chosen for the wrong reason, according to Washington, D.C. College Placement Bureau Director Loren Pope.

Students usually choose a college on the basis of what they have heard about it from family and friends and the impression the college representative makes, Pope explains. "It's the effect of the brand name and of the salesman -- not very reliable criteria for most."

"College selection is the one major consumer area of our economy where there is no consumer research and evaluation, though picking a college should be more important than choosing a car or a kitchen appliance."

He advises parents to recognize the scholastic limitations of their children and encourage them to apply to colleges that have student bodies of the same general academic achievement. "It is not wise," Pope concludes "to push for a too-demanding college with the oft-made argument that this youth is a 'late bloomer.'"

Oranges Provide Holiday Magic

By Christine Laws

The legend of the Christmas stocking claims that St. Nicholas threw gold coins down the chimney, and the coins fell into stockings hung before the fire to dry, with gold goodies -- oranges and tangerines. Orange magic stored in Christmas stockings packs a double wallop. They're fun to peel and eat, but most important, they provide vitamin C magic. Oranges are plentiful and low in cost. And their bright and cheerful flavor starts the day off with a spark of energy.

A special Christmas treat for friends is a basket of fresh oranges and lemons. To make the baskets, buy chicken wire at hardware or garden shops. Use wire clippers to cut strips 24 inches long and 12 inches wide. Intertwine the wire ends to form a cylinder. Close the bottom and form into a bell shape. Spray with gold paint, then fill with fruit.

A surprise for mealtime is an orange flower granish. Cut peel from an orange in one long spiral strip about three-fourths inches wide, starting at stem end. Wind the peel up tightly, starting at bottom end. Serve as a garnish with meats or vegetables.

A favorite holiday recipe using oranges is orange carrots. Wash and scrape one bunch of carrots. Cut into one-fourth inch crosswise slices. In a small saucepan, bring three - fourths cup of water to a boil. Add one - half teaspoon salt and carrots. Cook, covered, until the carrots are just tender, then drain.

Add an orange which has been two tablespoons butter or margarine and one tablespoon fresh or freeze-dried chopped chives.

Return to heat until the orange pieces are just heated through. Serve at once.

REMOVING STAINS

Holidays mean good food, good times, and saying goodbye to good linens and garments decorated with cranberry stains, turkey gravy and candle wax.

But a few helpful hints on stain removing can restore beauty to soiled garments.

Cranberry stains are one of the hardest to remove. Promptly take stained garments and linen to a professional dry cleaner. Swift action will usually provide results.

To remove gravy from a washable fabric, EITHER SPONGE MATERIAL WITH CLEANING FLUID SOAK IT IN THE FLUID. If remain, wash the cloth in warm suds and rinse. For dry cleaned fabrics, sponge with cool water, let dry then sponge with cleaning fluid or cleaning powder.

If candle wax drips on a washable fabric, remove excess wax with a dull knife. Place a towel under the stain and wet it thoroughly several times with a commercial drycleaning solvent. Dry and launder in heavy suds. For nonwashable fabrics, remove excess wax with a knife and sponge with a commercial drycleaning solvent.

Another method of removing candle wax is placing blotters over and under the stain then pressing with a warm iron. This method is effective to some degree, but it should be used only for grease from white candles. Heat sometimes turns the dye from colored candles into a difficult - to - remove stain.

Criminal Justice Council Approves CTCOG Grant

Texas Criminal Justice Council today approved a planning grant of $17,727 to the Central Texas Council of Governments, Belton.

Judge Joe Frazier Brown, executive director of the Council, said the grant will be used by the regional body to support its studies of criminal justice needs of the 6-county western portion of the Central Texas State Planning Region.

During the coming year attention will be focused on peace officer training, police policy and code manual, improved law enforcement recruitment methods, drug abuse treatment centers, public education, youth activities, regional training academy and crime laboratory, and riot control and civil disorder.

Counties included in the western portion of the Central Texas State Planning Region are Mills, Hamilton, Coryell, Lampasas, Bell and Milam.

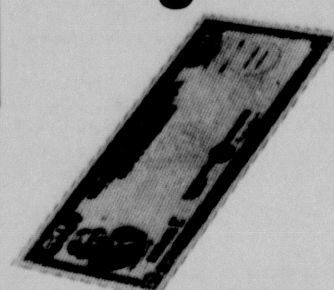

The criminal justice plans developed by the state planning regions provide input for the Criminal Justice Plan for Texas, which is used as the basis for action programs throughout the state in crime prevention and control.

The Criminal Justice Council administers planning and action grants to units of state and local government to assist them in formulating and carrying out projects in this area.

Total manhours required in farming have declined from 23 billion in 1930 to 15 billion in 1950 to 7 billion in 1968. Consequently, output per manhour doubled in the two decades between 1930 and 1950, and almost tripled in the 20 years since 1950.

NOTICE OF HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

The Texas Highway Department is planning to proceed with the development of the proposed highway improvements on FM 1915, from the end of the present FM 1915, 2.3 miles southwest of US 190, southwest to 0.3 mile south of Little River Slough. Since the District Office of the Highway Department has approved the route and design proposed for development of this project, work will begin on the next phase of engineering necessary for the development of this project.

The proposed character of work is to construct a typical Farm to Market Road with a 20 foot paved surface on a general right of way width of 100 feet, and construct a bridge 26 feet wide and 285 feet in length across the Little River Slough. Relocation assistance will be provided for any displacements.

Maps (drawings showing geometric design) and all other available data concerning the development of this project may be inspected at the Resident Engineer's Office, Texas Highway Department, Highway 6 North, Hearne, Texas.
